

FINLEY ON THE RATES; WHAT FIXES THEM

Rates Are Resultant of Economic and Commercial Forces, He Says.

PRESIDENT OF SOUTHERN SPEAKS AT BANQUET

Said He Feared the Public Had an Exaggerated Idea of the Earnings and Wealth of Common Carriers, and This Caused Hostile Legislation.

Greensboro, N. C., April 3.—At the annual banquet of the Merchants and Manufacturers Club tonight, W. W. Finley, president of the Southern railway, responded to the toast, "North Carolina and Its Relations to the Railroad Problem." He said:

"The interests of a railway, and of the people dependent on the transportation, are so completely identical that I have no hesitation in saying that every legislative proposition that is inimical to the railroad will be equally inimical to the interests of the people of the state. It is the duty of the legislature to see that the interests of the people of the state are protected."

Mr. Finley said that, while the capitalization of each railroad must be considered on its merits, he was convinced that there was serious popular error in the supposition that there is any considerable overcapitalization of railroads in the United States.

"Leaving aside the question as to whether the railroads of this country are overcapitalized, or not, to you, gentlemen, the idea that railroads are controlled by capitalization is entirely without justification. Capitalization may affect the intrinsic value of a company's securities, and thus affect the investing public; it cannot control a carrier's rates and hence cannot affect the shipping public."

He supported this statement by quotations from President Hadley, of Yale, and from Chairman Knapp, of the interstate commerce commission.

Mr. Finley gave examples of the competition of producing localities, of markets, of carriers, and of commodities, to show that railway charges are the outgrowth of economic laws and commercial conditions.

Roads Powerless to Fix Rates.

"No rate," he said, "can ever, with proper consideration for the business of the country or of the carriers, be made independently of these economic interrelationships. Legislation arbitrarily fixing rates, and not by capitalization of the carrier, is likewise arbitrary fixing the rate. In a broad sense, therefore, the management of a railroad is powerless to fix its rates. It must accept the rates that are the resultant of economic and commercial forces, which are as absolutely beyond the control of its managers as are the tides of the ocean. That this is true, is further shown by the fact that many railroads have never been able to pay dividends on all of their capital stock, while others are unable to pay any dividends at all, and still others are not able to pay interest on their bonded indebtedness. If a railway could adjust its rates to its capitalization there would be no reason why any road should not earn dividends on its capitalization, and thus forever abolish receiverships and bankruptcies."

"In all the discussion about the supposed relation between railroad capitalization and rates, I have been unable to find that any one has attempted to formulate a comprehensive and practicable scheme for basing rates on capitalization. I am convinced that if any one should seriously undertake to work out such a scheme, he would soon find it to be absolutely impossible. Take the case of two railroads competing for business between two common points. One of them may be a line constructed through a comparatively level country at a relatively small cost, and the other may be constructed through a mountainous country at very heavy cost. The capitalization of the mountain line may, very properly, be two or three times as great as that of the low grade line. If rates should be based on capitalization the rates on the mountain line would be two or three times those on the other, and the mountain line, because of its high rates, would be put out of business between the competitive points. The loss of its business between these points would probably make it impossible to earn from non-competitive business alone, enough to pay the interest on its bonds."

Referring to the argument that rates are kept up in order to pay dividends on watered stock, and if these payments are not made earnings could go to improvements, Mr. Finley said that this was an entire misconception of the financial situation, and he greatly regretted that an exaggerated idea of the earnings and wealth of the carriers was at the bottom of much of the exaggerated public sentiment and hostile legislation.

What Southern Has Spent.

"The Southern railway, since its organization, twelve years ago," he said, "spent, or contracted to spend, and is in the act of spending, more than $25,000,000 for its additions to its facilities and for capitalized betterments and improvements. This means that on its present mileage, it has spent, or thus has contracted to spend, within a fraction of fourteen thousand dollars per mile; whereas if every cent of its net earnings after the payment of interest and without paying one penny of dividends, or carrying one penny of surplus, had been expended for these purposes, it would have amounted to only about thirty-six hundred dollars per mile upon its present mileage. The fact is, that proper dividends should be paid in order to create the credit on which a carrier can provide itself, in the money market, with the funds to add to its facilities in those particulars which are essential not only to its own interest as a carrier, but to the interest of the public at large."

British Ships for Jamestown.

Plymouth, England, April 3.—The first cruiser squadron, under the command of Rear Admiral Neville, sailed for the West Indies today on its way to Hampton Roads, Va., where the British warships will participate in the international review in honor of the inauguration of the Jamestown exposition.

JACKSON FILES DIVORCE SUIT

Cruel Treatment Given as the Ground.

Attorney Hewlett, Who Has Just Returned From a Conference With Mrs. Jackson, Says No Counter Action Will Be Brought.

Renfro Jackson, through his attorney, Sam Hewlett, yesterday filed suit for divorce against his wife, Mrs. Mary Spear Jackson.

Cruel treatment is his ground on which a legal separation is asked. The greatest secrecy surrounded the filing of the petition and every effort was made to keep the fact from the general public.

Mr. Hewlett, after filing the petition, immediately withdrew it and sent a copy to Mrs. Jackson, who is still in Indianapolis.

An intimation that the divorce proceedings might be expected early this week was made last Sunday, when Mr. Hewlett left the city for Indianapolis. His trip was a flying one and he only remained in the Indiana city long enough to have a brief conference with Mrs. Jackson.

Mr. Hewlett would not discuss the case yesterday, further than to admit that Mrs. Jackson was aware of the filing of the petition and would not file a counter suit.

Asked if he knew aught of Mrs. Jackson's plans for the future, Mr. Hewlett replied that he did not. He said he had promised that the petition would not be made public and he could not discuss the case in detail.

New York, April 3.—Admiral Lord Charles Beresford, of the British navy, and Miss Kathleen Beresford sailed for Liverpool today on the steamer Teutonic.

SAVANNAH CHIEF RAIDS GAMBLERS

Made a Clean Sweep and Rounded Up Many Sports.

Police Were Armed With Battering Rams and a Negro Attendant Shouted "Police," but Each Door Was Guarded—Many Arrested.

Savannah, Ga., April 3.—(Special.)—Chief of Police W. G. Austin tonight made good on his promise to raid all of the gambling rooms in Savannah. He made a clean sweep, having a large detail of police assigned to the duty and rounded up a numerous crowd of the sports.

It has been asserted during former administrations that the police were powerless to raid the places, and that they could be proceeded against only through the machinery of the state courts, by securing indictments and arresting the offenders under those indictments. Mayor Tiedeman's administration, however, has taken a different view of the matter, and Chief Austin showed himself amply competent to put it into execution.

The police were armed with battering rams, a la Jerome, and his New York style. When the police appeared at the doors, the joints, all of which were prominently located in the business section, they were met by the out-piercing faces of negro attendants, who hastily lowered the curtains to the peep holes, and shouted, "Police," giving the inmates the alarm.

They scattered as best they could, but all means of egress had been effectively closed by policemen stationed to intercept everybody attempting to escape. The raids were made simultaneously by squads under sergeants.

Then the chief made the round of the places in his automobile, having the patrol wagons accompany him, and loading them up with the prisoners secured. They were all taken to police headquarters, where they bustled themselves in efforts to secure bond.

The police took charge of all the gambling apparatus that was in the places that they raided. There was a vast deal of this, consisting of crap tables, faro layouts, roulette wheels, poker tables, and other devices. One of the joints pulled was an alleged club, all the eligible being supplied with keys, and none other than holders of these keys being admitted. It is said a fight will be made against the raid under the club claim. Frank Bibb, "Colonel" Harris, L. Frank Butler, "Wag" Wallace, Charles Edwards and some twenty others were in the net that the police drew tonight.

SCIENTISTS ARE ABLE TO PHOTOGRAPH BREATH.

BERLIN, April 3.—The science of photography of breath was explained yesterday at the annual meeting of the Roentgen conference. Centonograph pictures of the breathing of sick and healthy persons were thrown upon a screen. The inventor of the method is Dr. Kohler Wiesbaden. It is expected that the discovery will play an important part in the diagnosis of tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases.

MORE TALKING BY ROOSEVELT ON HARRIMAN

President Says Harriman Came to White House Seeking Aid.

ROOSEVELT ALSO HITS AT ALTON B. PARKER

President Denies That Any Governmental Favors Have Been Shown the Corporations That Gave to the Republican Campaign Fund.

Washington, D. C., April 3.—President Roosevelt discussed with a number of his callers today various features of the controversy between Mr. Harriman and himself growing out of the publication of the letters between them. He desired not to be quoted in the matter, however.

To his friends today, the president made it plain that his version of Mr. Harriman's visit preceding the election of 1904, was that Mr. Harriman wanted assistance from the national republican committee to help Chairman Odell in the New York campaign towards whose expenses he (Harriman) had raised $100,000. The president promised to communicate with Cortelyou and Bliss to see what could be done. He did in this case, he declared, just what he had done in other instances, where he had been appealed to help in state campaigns.

Roosevelt on Parker.

To some of his visitors, the president referred to the statement made public last night by Alton B. Parker in Albany, in which he said that he has never been denied that $150,000 was turned over to the Equitable Mutual and New York Life Insurance companies to Mr. Cortelyou's committee, and that congress has refused to make an investigation into the corporate contributions of 1904 or to pass a law prohibiting such contributions in the future.

The president referred to a statement which he made on November 4, 1904, in which he said in part:

"That contributions have been made to the republican committee as contributions have been made to the democrats, is not the question at issue. Mr. Parker's assertion is in effect that such contributions have been made for improper motives, either in consequence of threats or in consequence of improper promises, direct or indirect, on the part of the recipients. But there is not one particle of truth in the statement," etc.

Neither Mr. Parker nor his supporters, the president declared, have been able to traverse or question the statements made in that answer.

Some Contributions Returned.

The president said that to his own knowledge about a dozen contributions offered by corporations had been declined by Chairman Cortelyou, but that others had been accepted. A contribution by the American Tobacco company, he said, had been returned. A prominent man had made a contribution of $20,000 to the republican campaign fund. Subsequently this man had made known his desire for an appointment in the diplomatic service in the event that the president was elected. As soon as his motives were understood the national committee returned his contribution.

The president asserted to his callers that none of the corporations that contributed to the campaign fund in 1904 had come to him for favors, either directly or indirectly. In this connection the president referred to the legislation enacted regarding corporations during the last two years disproving any intimation that immunity would be granted them for their contributions.

Did Harriman Want to Be Senator?

It was authoritatively declared at the white house today that the real reason for Mr. E. H. Harriman's interest in the election of the state ticket in New York in 1904, reference to which was made in the communications which passed between him and the president, was that he desired to advance his own ambitions. It is asserted that Mr. Harriman wanted the position of senator now filled by Mr. Dewey and that this was the reason why he was anxious to have him appointed ambassador to Paris. The inference from Mr. Harriman's attitude was that if Senator Dewey could be induced to go to Paris that Governor Higgins was prepared to appoint Harriman to the vacancy.

Secretary Loeb said today that there would not be any further announcement from the president bearing on the issue between him and Mr. Harriman growing out of the conference and letters between the two in the latter part of 1904, the details of which were made public yesterday.

MOTHER AND CHILDREN BURNED.

They Perish in a Tenement Fire at Passaic, N. J.

Passaic, N. J., April 3.—A mother and four of her children perished in a tenement house fire here today. The victims were Mrs. Philomena Sattop, 26 years old, Mary, aged 7; Joseph, aged 5; Antonio, aged 3; and Joseph, aged 1 month. The flames were first seen issuing from the cellar and before the firemen arrived the flames had spread through the double tenement. Many women and children were taken down ladders by the firemen, but the members of the Sattop family, which occupied rooms on the third floor are supposed to have been suffocated by smoke before they could escape from their rooms.

Santos Dumont's Airship at Auction.

New York, April 3.—The airship which was brought to this country by Santos Dumont for exhibition at the St. Louis exposition, and which was seized by the customs officials for nonpayment of duty, was sold today for $80. The airship was one of the several hundred articles disposed of at the general appraisers' stores in the annual sale of unclaimed goods.

ARMED WITH A RIFLE WOMAN STANDS GUARD OVER HUSBAND'S BODY

It Is Charged That Mrs. Drew, of Louisiana, Killed Her Spouse.

SHERIFF AND DEPUTIES KEPT AT BAY 20 HOURS

Whenever One of the Five Officers Appeared the Woman Used Her Rifle—She Was Only Captured After Her Ammunition Was Used Up.

New Orleans, April 3.—Armed with a rifle and standing guard over her dead husband's body, Mrs. L. C. Drew held a sheriff and four deputies at bay for over twenty hours at Water Valley, La., according to dispatches reaching here tonight. It is charged that Mrs. Drew shot her husband.

When the sheriff's posse arrived to arrest the woman she opened fire, shooting whenever one of the five officers showed any portion of himself large enough for a target. She did not hit her besiegers, but they did not capture her until darkness had fallen and her ammunition was all used up.

Another woman, whose name has not been made public was found with Mrs. Drew, but so far as is known she did not take part in the shooting. Mrs. Drew was taken to jail. No cause for the shooting of her husband is known. He was 48 years old.

"FREAK" SPELLING SPREADS.

Brander Matthews Says 100,000 Persons Are Using It.

New York, April 3.—Chairman Brander Matthews, of the Smithsonian spelling board at its first annual meeting, at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel today submitted a report in which he stated that at least 100,000 persons were using the form of spelling used by the organization.

Most of the criticism against the board's activity, Professor Matthews declared, had come from men of letters, but their criticism had been more than offset by the support of the men of science. Prof. Matthews stated that President Roosevelt's favorable attitude toward simplified spelling had also been a powerful factor in advancing the work of the board.

Resolutions were adopted thanking Andrew Carnegie for the aid he had rendered the board.

Alfonso Gets Ready for His Heir.

Madrid, April 3.—King Alfonso today signed a decree ordering the necessary preparation for the presentation of his heir to the high officials of Spain and the diplomatic representatives accredited to Madrid immediately after the birth of the child.

WOMEN DUPED AND ROBBED BY PALMIST

Ladies of Greensboro, N. C., Shy About $10,000 in Money and Gems.

SCORES OF THE DAMES RUSHED TO BE ROBBED

Most Refined and Cultivated Women in the Tarheel Town Among the Dupes of Earl Varetare. How He Worked the Game.

Greensboro, N. C., April 3.—After working one of the smoothest games ever heard of in Greensboro, Earl Varetare, a self-styled palmer and clairvoyant, who appeared in the city about six weeks ago, has skipped, taking with him jewelry and money to the amount of $10,000, which he secured from his unwary victims while pretending to tell their fortunes. Scores of the most refined and cultivated women in the city are among the swindler's dupes.

Varetare appeared here over a month ago, and secured rooms at Harvey's boarding house, in South Ashe street. He then inserted advertisements in all of the city papers, stating that he would receive callers between the hours of 9:00 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. Women flocked to his apartments, and on the first day the patrons were so numerous that Varetare found it necessary to hire some one to receive and entertain them.

Varetare professed to be able to prevent impending calamities, and those who were taken in by this part of the hoax were the heaviest losers. In order to save the patrons from threatening danger a charm must be worked and the patron was sworn to secrecy.

The swindler took any valuable piece of jewelry or any amount of money which his patron had and placed the same in a small box. The box was then sealed and placed in a small black bag. This bag was sealed and included in yet another bag which was also sealed. The patron was then instructed to pin the sealed package on the inside of her clothing and not remove it until a day appointed for her return.

Today was the appointed time and when the boxes were opened they were empty. Varetare has left the city.

Killed Babies and Shot Self.

Montreal, April 3.—William Simpson, a prosperous young farmer of St. Charles, yesterday afternoon, during his wife's absence, shot and killed his two infant daughters, and then tried to kill himself, by putting two revolver bullets in his body. He is very low today. Physicians say that excessive affection for his children caused insanity.

DAY OF DOOM HAS DAWNED FOR HARRY THAW

Lunacy Commission Will Make Report on the Prisoner Today.

THAW WAS EXAMINED AT A SECRET SESSION

Only Members of the Commission and Thaw Allowed in the Room at the Last Examination. Jerome and Hartridge in a Clash.

New York, April 3.—Tomorrow brings another critical stage in the case of Harry K. Thaw, when the slayer of Stanford White will either be officially proclaimed insane and ordered sent to a state asylum or his trial will be resumed before Justice Fitzgerald upon the finding of the lunacy commission that the defendant is at this time capable of rightly understanding his own position, of appreciating the nature of the charge against him and of rationally advising with his counsel. The commission completed its work tonight and will be ready to report to Justice Fitzgerald tomorrow morning.

Thaw underwent a private mental and physical examination for more than two hours this afternoon. In this last crucial test he was entirely alone before the commission, even the district attorney and the members of his own counsel being barred.

Thaw's Heart Is Light.

When the three members of the commission had completed their final examination they shook hands with Thaw in a most cordial manner. He went back to his cell in the Tombs with a light heart and declared later to his counsel that he felt the commission would surely declare him sane tomorrow. The attorneys shared their client's optimistic view of the situation. District Attorney Jerome would not commit himself in any way.

Thaw's counsel declared they were ready to proceed with the case tomorrow and believed that Mr. Delmas might begin his summing up address before noon. In that event they said Mr. Jerome would address the jury on Friday and a verdict might be expected before the end of the week. There is little or no likelihood that the report of the commission which has inquired into Thaw's present mental state will ever be made public. If this decision favors Thaw, Justice Fitzgerald will merely order the trial to proceed without any reference whatsoever to the interruption which began two weeks ago. Should the decision be against Thaw, Justice Fitzgerald would have to quote a brief from the formal finding of the commission in his order committing the young man to an asylum.

If Thaw Is Committed.

If committed Thaw would have to remain in the asylum until declared sane by the superintendent of that institution. Then he would be brought back to this city and tried again.

The first public session of the commission was held this morning to hear the testimony of two more witnesses—Dr. Allen Rose Diefendorf, of Middletown, Conn., for the prosecution, and Dr. Charles G. Wagner, of Birmingham, N. Y., for the defense.

Dr. Diefendorf gave a purely academic

Behind the Move.

Frankfort, Ky., April 3.—The Kentucky Highlands Railroad Company, of Franklin county, today incorporated with the department of the state, by filing articles setting forth that it has $250,000 capital stock and proposes to build 30 miles of railroad between Frankfort and Versailles, in Woodford county, and Lexington, Fayette county.

The incorporators are E. F. Trae, John C. Doolan and Attila Cox, counsel in Kentucky for the Illinois Central railroad, and S. S. Bush, H. Owen, J. D. Winster and Menefee Bergman, all of Louisville.

he filing of the articles gives rise to a story here that the Illinois Central, which has its terminals at Louisville, is seeking an entrance further into Kentucky and that it is really incorporating the new company.

DRIVER DROPS DEAD WHILE ON HIS WAGON

SITTING on the driver's seat of one of the city stockade wagons, of which he was a driver, waiting while his horses refreshed themselves with water at the watering tank at the corner of Fair street and Boulevard at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, J. T. Maughon, aged 55 years, suddenly gasped for breath and expired without speaking. A negro, one of the prisoners at the stockade, seated beside him, threw his arms about the dying man and propped him up, calling on the white driver of the following wagon for help, but the man was beyond human aid and died as his fellow driver hurried to his assistance. Members of his family state that he was subject to heart trouble, to which cause his death is ascribed, and there being witnesses to his death, no inquest will be held by the coroner. The deceased was engaged in hauling pipe from the Western and Atlantic depot to the stockade at the time of his death. He was apparently in good health and spirits up to the moment when stricken by death, of which no forewarning was given. He is survived by his wife and three children, who reside at the corner of Greenwood avenue and Waldo street. He but recently moved to Atlanta from Arkansas and was given the position of a driver at the stockade some ten days ago. The body was removed to the undertaking establishment of Greenberg, Bond & Bloomfield. Funeral arrangements have been delayed, awaiting to hear from relatives in Lawrence, Ga.

SUNDAY SCHOOL INSTITUTE TO MEET AT ALL SAINTS; DR. BUTLER TO LECTURE

THE annual conference of the Sunday School Institute of the Episcopal churches in Atlanta and vicinity will be held at All Saints' next Monday. The first session will be held at 4:30 in the afternoon, and the second session will begin at 7:30 in the evening. During the intermission between the sessions refreshments will be served. The conference will be addressed by the Rev. Dr. A. A. Butler, who is considered to be an authority on Sunday school work. Dr. Butler was formerly professor of religious pedagogy in Seabury institute in Connecticut. He is a member of the committee on Sunday school work named by the last general convention of the Episcopal church at Boston, and is the author of several books on Sunday schools and Sunday school work. Dr. Butler is a practical Sunday school teacher, and his addresses will be of much value to the members of the institute.

Clothes of Reputation and Character

Reputation is a created estimation in the mind of another. Character is the creative force which maintains that reputation. We made the Muse reputation years ago by selling men the same sort of clothing with which we maintain that reputation today. The slapping together of all-wool (?) with as much machine work as possible serves but as a danger-signal to this store—shows us what to keep away from. For to this day, notwithstanding all the advancement made in Ready-to-Wear clothing, wear is still the tester and adjuster of good tailoring. And there's no short cuts to it. Muse clothing has long been well and favorably known to particular men, because the character of it merits the reputation it bears. Muse spring Sack Suits,

KILLED BARBER WHO SOUGHT PAY T. R. W. JORDAN

Instead of Paying, Simpson Pulled Revolver and Fired.

Brunswick, Ga., April 3.—(Special).—J. Simpson, aged 23, claiming Lumber City as his home, shot and killed Peter Grantling, a well known negro barber, about 8 o'clock tonight. Simpson is in a white raft, handily. He arrived in the city this afternoon from Darien. After he had been shaved by Grantling he attempted to leave the place. The barber sent a boy for the police. Simpson whipped out a 32-caliber revolver, and shot twice, both balls entering above the left nipple, causing death in a few moments.

He was arrested a few minutes later, and jailed. The apparently odd-blooded murder has aroused indignation.

PRACTICAL JOKE PLAYED ON YOUNG MARRIED COUPLE

"Married Today—Earl and Cleone. They are on their way to New York. Help them have a good time. Goo. Goo." A small hand bill printed in large display type carrying the words quoted, flooded a passenger train leaving Montgomery yesterday as a bride and groom entered a coach routed for Atlanta. And while the coach was being flooded with the postscript of the bride and groom were being stocked with the same kind of literature by a great gathering of the friends of the two Mountzums.

Earl is the given name of Earl McKinnzie, one of the successful and well-to-do young merchants of Montgomery, while Cleone stands for Miss Cleone Lewis, daughter of one of the leading, most influential and wealthiest men of that section of the state. Miss Lewis and Mr. McKinnzie were united in marriage in the city of Montgomery yesterday. The Rev. Dr. Ballard, of that place, officiating, and immediately after the ceremony the bride couple, accompanied by a great concourse of friends, went to the passenger station for the train. It was then that the friends of Mr. and Mrs. McKinnzie gave them a surprise in which their pleasure was shown by showering upon them and into the train the hand bills indicated.

Both bride and groom being good natured and happy, took the surprise in the same pleasant manner it was given, and gathering up a number of copies of the hand bills, they laid them away as souvenirs of the happy event of their lives. Mr. and Mrs. McKinnzie reached Atlanta last night and will resume their journey east tomorrow. They have apartments at the Kimball.

The "Golden Band of Luck"

Agents for Knox

There is no doubt about the great hit that is being scored by charming little Williams and the artists who are associated with her in the Bijou production, "My Town Boy Cirk." The play has scored the success of the season, and standing room is at a premium at most of the performances. There is a great demand for the reservations for the balance of the engagement. This Bijou musical play is one of the best that has been sent out, and Miss Williams is the star par excellence. The present picture that has proved to be one of the really strong drawing cards of the engagement. There are numerous well-fitting specialties, and the play in all is the sort of entertainment one would care for at this stage of the theatrical season. There will be matinee and night performances on Thursday and Saturday and evening performances every night the balance of the week.

A Feat of Memory. Comparatively few persons who have seen Mrs. Leslie-Carter's marvelous performance, "Du Barry," which will be given at the Grand April 9 and 10, have the slightest idea of the amount of work required for the impersonation of the millinery girl, Jeanette Vau-bernior, who dazzled Louis XV of France just as he was tired of almost everything in the world—and particularly the beauties of his own court at Versailles. Mrs. Carter confesses that "Du Barry" is the hardest, longest and most trying role she has ever attempted. It took her nearly four months to memorize the lines of the part, all of one summer spent in her seclusion, island cottage. During the five acts of the Belasco play Mrs. Carter is called upon to speak 10,000 words besides the great amount of "business" her part demands.

Tonic and Appetizer

Doctors all agree that there is no other tonic and appetizer known to science equal to that of DUFFY'S PURE MALT WHISKEY, which has stood the most severe tests for more than fifty years and is still the greatest household remedy in the world.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Wing, of Chittenden, Vt., who have just celebrated their golden wedding, say they have used DUFFY'S PURE MALT WHISKEY as their only medicine, and they owe their health and vigor to this great renewer of youth.

MR. W. B. WING.

The portraits of Mr. and Mrs. Wing show them to be strong, healthy and active people. Mr. Wing is 71 years old and Mrs. Wing 66. In writing to us Mr. Wing states that he and Mrs. Wing had derived so much benefit from the use of DUFFY'S PURE MALT WHISKEY that it affords them great pleasure to have the opportunity to tell others that DUFFY'S PURE MALT WHISKEY is a godsend to suffering humanity.

"You may fill this out to please yourselves. I have used your Malt Whiskey and find it an appetizer with good effect. I am 71 years old and know that it has done me good. Enclosed please find our photographs in paper taken for our golden wedding last July 4th. You can refer to us any one you see fit; it will be all right." W. B. ENDED LIFE WITH A PISTOL

Robert S. Stewart Committed Suicide in a Vacant House.

Robert S. Stewart, bookkeeper for the Harper-Weathers & Calico, Mule Company, committed suicide yesterday morning at 8:30 o'clock in a vacant house at 193 Gilmer street, by shooting himself in the head with a pistol.

He left a note stating that he was short in his accounts about $600, and that he wanted his body buried by the side of his little niece, Leonora Sedden, who died last Thursday.

Mr. Stewart's employees do not think the shortage was the cause of the suicide. It is believed that the man was heart-broken over the death of his little niece, who was twenty-two months old, and to whom he was devotedly attached. He went to Oakland cemetery Tuesday night for the purpose of killing himself, remaining there all night. He had been in ill-health some time, and the death of the child probably unbalanced his mind.

Mr. Stewart lived with his aged parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Stewart, on Gordon street. He was a brother of James A. Stewart, of Atlanta.

Exercises Are Postponed.

The beautiful exercises, "The Gift of Grace," which were to have been given last Sunday night in West End Christian church, was postponed on account of the death of the child.

COL. THORNTON'S FUNERAL TODAY

Services Will Be Conducted at the Residence This Morning.

The last rites over the body of the late Colonel Albert Thornton will be held this morning at 11 o'clock at the residence, 593 Peachtree street. The pallbearers will be: C. E. Currier, S. M. Inman, Frank E. Block, Hugh T. Inman, M. Frank, M. F. Harper, P. S. Arkwright, A. J. Orme, Clark Howell, Jr., Thomas Eggleston and John S. Clark. The burial will be in Oakland cemetery.

Sketch of His Life. Mr. Thornton was a Georgian by birth, and was born in Troup county fifty-three years ago. In LaGrange he passed his boyhood and it was there he began his education and was prepared for the University of Georgia, which he entered in the early seventies, and from which he was graduated with distinction in 1874.

His education completed, Mr. Thornton returned to LaGrange, where he gave his attention for a time to the cotton business. It was while in that line of work that his attention was attracted to cotton seed oil and the by-products of the cotton seed. To these he gave a hard and devoted study, and was among the pioneers in the south in that line of industrial development.

In the early eighties Mr. Thornton was united in marriage to Miss Lella Austell, daughter of the late General Austell, founder of the Atlanta National bank, and up to the time of his death president of that institution. His bride was one of the belles of the south. It was about that time that Mr. Thornton came to Atlanta to make it his home. Of an affable disposition, generous, he quickly made friends not only in the business, but in the social world. He soon became one of the leading business factors of the city.

No sacrifice he could make for Atlanta was too great and great was the aid he gave the city when help was needed. New enterprises appealing to him always found a supporter ready with his money, his advice and his energy. During the eighties he was elected a director in the Atlanta National bank, and subsequently became its vice president. He was also president of cotton mills in Eberton and Milledgeville, and was a director in the Georgia Railway and Electric Light Company, the Atlanta Home Insurance Company and of the Southern States Mutual Insurance Company. At one time he was president of the Interstate Cotton Seed Crushers' Association. His business life was clear, and his every transaction was always open to the most minute inspection.

Beautiful Home Life.

Mr. Thornton's home life was an ideal one. With his wife and three children, two sons and a daughter—Alfred Austell Thornton, Albert E. Thornton and Miss Jessie Thornton—he always found his home the pleasantest and most delightful spot on earth. At the university Mr. Thornton was with some of the men who are now and have been leaders in life. Among his fellow students were David C. Barrow, chancellor of the University of Georgia; W. Sylvanus Morris, dean of the university law school; the late Lieutenant Thomas M. Brumby, United States navy, who was flag lieutenant of Admiral Dewey at the battle of Manila bay; William B. Lamar, at present member of congress from Florida; E. L. Brinson, attorney of Waynesboro; James G. Parks, attorney of Dawson; Lewis W. Thomas, attorney of Atlanta; C. Henry Cohen, attorney of Augusta; J. B. Conyers, attorney of Cartersville; Ben R. Padgett, contractor and builder of Atlanta; Hon. Joseph Hill Hall, member of the legislature from Bibb county; Andrew A. Lipscomb, attorney of Washington, D. C.; William M. Slaton, principal of the Atlanta Boys' High school, and Right Rev. Charles M. Beckwith, Episcopal bishop of Alabama.

James L. Mayson, president of the Atlanta Alumni Association of the Chi Phi fraternity, has appointed the following committee from the local alumni to attend the funeral: Arnold Broyles, Nash R. Broyles, Judge Andrew B. Calhoun, John W. Grant, Judge W. R. Hammond, Judge Ben H. Hill, John A. Hynds, Rev. James W. Lee, Sanders McDaniel, Eugene R. Black, E. M. Mitchell, Howard E. W. Palmer, Dr. H. F. Scott, J. M. Slaton and Walter A. Taylor.

FREE FIGHT AT HAVANA FIRE.

Druggist, Whose Store Was Burned, Is Reported Dead. Havana, April 3.—During the progress of a serious fire yesterday in which ten houses were burned, entailing a loss of $5,000, a fight occurred among firemen, policemen, citizens and rurales. Two firemen became involved in a quarrel with the police. Bystanders joined in supporting the firemen.

The riot assumed such serious proportions that two companies of rurales were called. In the general melee which followed rurales used their machetes, wounding several firemen. A druggist whose store was destroyed, dropped dead.

BURNING OF FURNITURE VAN CALLS OUT MANY ENGINES

A HEAVY laden furniture van, belonging to Carmichael & Talman, containing an assortment of brand new furniture, caught fire while on its way to North Avenue about 10 o'clock Wednesday afternoon and the entire fire department was called out.

WHAT THE DEPARTMENT SAW.

When the foam-jetted horses pulling it saw that the excelsior and chemicals arrived on the scene, the furniture was a mass of charred ruins and the top and body of the van was badly burned. Erwin Marshall, a negro, was the driver of the van which contained, among other things, a refrigerator, a dresser, a hatrack, four chairs and a lounge. Jogging along at an easy pace, he was startled to hear a woman in the rear scream "Fire!" Turning, he saw that the excelsior and other inflammable material in the wagon was burning. He hurriedly dismounted and unhitched the horses, which were not injured. An alarm was sent in and the department naturally supposed a house in the fashionable district was burning.

Mr. Carmichael stated last night that the loss would be about $300, which would fall on him, as his insurance lapsed as soon as the furniture left his store.

Napoleon Born to Be Waited On. Napoleon had himself dressed by his attendants from head to foot. He put his hand to nothing, but let himself be dressed like an infant, his mind filled with business during the entire performance. The emperor was born, so to speak, to be waited on. When only a general he had as many as three valets.

NO LIMITATION OF ARMAMENT

Objection Is Made by Russia, Austria and Germany.

It Is Held That Discussion of the Question Cannot Lead to Practical Results—The Hague Conference to Open in June.

St. Petersburg, April 3.—The Russian representatives abroad have been directed to communicate a circular note regarding The Hague peace conference, the main feature of which is the announcement that Russia, Germany and Austria reserve the right to abstain from the discussion of questions "which in their opinion cannot lead to practical results," meaning the limitation of armaments.

Russia, in making her reservation, reaffirms her adherence to the former program for the conference. On the other hand, Great Britain and Japan reserve the right to abstain from the discussion of any points in the Russian program from which, according to their views, satisfactory conclusions could not be obtained.

The question of the limitation of the armaments, according to the Russian note, is proposed by three powers, the United States, Great Britain and Spain. The United States also proposing the addition of the Drago doctrines to the program and several states reserve the right to present independent preparations to the conference on questions connected with the Russian program, but not directly mentioned in it.

In conclusion, the note states that the Russian minister at The Hague has been instructed to ask the government of the Netherlands to issue filial invitations to the conference in order that it may be opened in the middle of June.

Great Britain Stands on Her Request. London, April 3.—Great Britain has not withdrawn or in any way altered her request that the reduction of the expenditures of the armaments should be placed on the program of subjects to be discussed at The Hague conference.

A note was dispatched to Russia March 28 requesting that the question of the limitation of armament be placed on the program. The contents of this note, which were communicated to the powers, made this plain, said an official of the foreign office to the Associated Press today, adding that "it could not understand how any other interpretation could be placed upon it, as it seems to have been done in Berlin."

This note, besides a request for the inclusion of the limitation of armaments question in the program, suggested that a committee might be appointed to formulate a scheme for the limitation of armaments. No answer has yet been received from Russia.

Invitation to United States. Washington, April 3.—Baron Rosen, the Russian ambassador, called upon Secretary Root today at the state department and informed him that he had received from the St. Petersburg foreign office the invitation to the United States to attend the second Hague conference.

This invitation was couched in French and it was necessary to make a translation before it could be handed to Mr. Root officially. The understanding here has been that the date would be placed some time between the 1st and the 15th of June.

BREWERS' STRIKE COMES TO AN END

Contracts for Three Years Signed by All Parties.

Increase in Wages Granted With Shorter Hours—Some Delay Was Caused by Proprietors' Insisting on an Arbitration Clause.

St. Louis, April 3.—Contracts for three years were signed by the representatives of the various breweries and the striking employees and the strike was officially declared terminated. There was a deadlock for two hours before the contracts were signed because the brewery proprietors insisted on the insertion of an arbitration clause in all contracts and the strikers objected, but finally yielded. The increase in wages granted and the changes in hours go into effect immediately. Operations will be resumed in the breweries as usual tomorrow.

Following are the changes in wages and hours that go into effect immediately under the new contracts: Brewers and malsters, in the warehouse men increased from $15 to $16.50 a week, cellar men from $16 to $17.50 a week. Bottlers, from $17.00 a day for nine hours to $2 for an eight-hour day.

Firemen, from $15 a week to 30 cents an hour for eight hours, seven days a week.

Freight handlers, from $2 for a nine-hour day to 27½ cents an hour. Others, from $62.50 a month, a ten-hour day, to $15 a week for eight-hour day.

Engineers, increase from $20 to $23 a week. Drivers, increase from $14 to $15 and from $16 to $16.50 a week.

Ice pullers, work only eight hours instead of ten for $2 a day. Laborers, from $1.85 for nine hours to $2 for eight hours.

The Brewers' and Malsters' Union and the Bottlers' Union were the last to accept the offer of the brewery proprietors. The other unions were granted concessions that met their approval.

TO DOUBLE TRACK BELLWOOD AVE.

At the regular monthly meeting of the county commissioners Wednesday, the Georgia Railway and Electric Company was granted the right to double track Bellwood avenue from English avenue, to Proctor creek, a distance of over one mile.

This will enable the company to almost double its schedule between Atlanta and the river, and will be a great convenience to the people living along the line. This section of the county is improving rapidly and many houses are being built. The county hands are at work on Bellwood avenue, and as fast as the grading is done the company will come along with its rails.

A large delegation of citizens of College Park attended the meeting of the commission and presented a petition asking that the county widen the road through the town. The town has practically no road that is passable at the present time, as the street car company has double-tracked the road so as to leave only a narrow strip of three or four feet to the east of the railroad. The matter was referred to a special committee from the board and from the citizens of College Park, as to the manner in which the work will be done.

A petition, signed by many officials and citizens, was presented to the board asking that some steps be taken to better protect the county records. It is recommended that general indices should be made to the filing dockets and the lost record information, which is said to be in the hands of the lawyers, gotten together at a cost of $2,000. No fault is found with Clerk Arnold Broyles.

Definite action on the purchase of 2,000 copies of "North and South," which is to contain advertising matter relative to the county, was taken.

One of the Important Duties of Physicians and the Well-Informed of the World is to learn as to the relative standing and reliability of the leading manufacturers of medicinal agents, as the most eminent physicians are the most careful as to the uniform quality and perfect purity of remedies prescribed by them, and it is well known to physicians and the Well-Informed generally that the California Fig Syrup Co., by reason of its correct methods and perfect equipment and the ethical character of its product has attained to the high standing in scientific and commercial circles which is accorded to successful and reliable houses only, and, therefore, that the name of the Company has become a guarantee of the excellence of its remedy.

TRUTH AND QUALITY

appeal to the Well-Informed in every walk of life and are essential to permanent success and creditable standing, therefore we wish to call the attention of all who would enjoy good health, with its blessings, to the fact that it involves the question of right living with the ten implies. With proper knowledge of what is best each hour of recreation, of enjoyment, of contemplation and of effort may be made to contribute to that end and the useful medicines dispensed with generally to great advantage, but as in many instances simple, wholesome remedy may be invaluable if taken at the proper time, the California Fig Syrup Co. feels that it is alike important to present truthfully the subject and to supply the one perfect laxative remedy which has won the approval of physicians and the world-wide acceptance of the Well-Informed because of the excellence of the combination, known to all, and the original method of manufacture, which is known to the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

This valuable remedy has been long and favorably known under the name of—Syrup of Figs—and as attained to world-wide acceptance as the most excellent of family laxatives, and its pure laxative principles, obtained from Senna, are well known to physicians and the Well-Informed of the world to be the best of natural laxatives, we have adopted the more elaborate name of—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as more fully descriptive of the remedy, but doubtless it will always be called for by the shorter name of Syrup of Figs—and to get its beneficial effects always note, when purchasing, the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package, whether you simply call for—Syrup of Figs—or by the full name—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—is the one laxative remedy manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. and the same heretofore known by the name—Syrup of Figs—which has given satisfaction to millions. The genuine is for sale by all leading druggists throughout the United States in original packages of one size only, the regular price of which is fifty cents per bottle.

Every bottle is old under the general guarantee of the Company, filed with the Secretary of Agriculture, at Washington, D. C., that the remedy is not adulterated or misbranded within the meaning of the Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906.

BABY GIRL FOUND IN NEGRO CABIN

Was Given Her in Atlanta, Says Lithonia Negress.

Child Is About Six Weeks Old and Has the Appearance of Refined Parentage—In the Basket Was an Abundance of Clothing.

Lithonia, Ga., April 3.—(Special.)—The discovery of an infant girl baby about six weeks old in the house of Della Thornton, a negro woman, here today by the police created a mild sensation in this little city.

The negro woman has had the possession of the child since last Monday, claiming that it was given to her on last Sunday morning in Atlanta by a colored woman, who resides at 117 Young street, who said that her little boy had found the child in a basket on the front porch early Sunday morning.

The child has every appearance of refined parents, and the negro woman here claims that it had an abundant supply of clothing in the basket, with the child when found.

The negro woman here, Della Thornton, has told several conflicting stories about the baby, and it would be worth while for the police in Atlanta to investigate the matter, by interviewing the woman at 117 Young street.

SEMBRICH'S COMING WILL BE GREAT MUSICAL EVENT

WHEN Mme. Macella Sembrich appears at the Grand opera house on Friday night she will undoubtedly be greeted by the largest and most enthusiastic audience of the season. The sale of seats, which has been going on for some time, is unusually large, and promises to eclipse anything of the season in the musical line. The reputation of Mme. Sembrich is always a guarantee of an evening of the best to be had in music, for the great singer has easily demonstrated her superiority over the grand opera stars who enjoy an enviable reputation.

Mme. Sembrich is expected to arrive in Atlanta on Friday morning. She will be accompanied by Ellison Van Hoose, who for many years was connected with the Brenau College Conservatory, at Gainesville, Ga. Mr. Van Hoose is accompanying Mme. Sembrich in the capacity of assistant. Then there is Frank La Forge, a pianist of ability, who will play the accompaniment. The trio make a musical combination never excelled for a simple concert.

The schools and colleges within a radius of a hundred miles of Atlanta, will be liberally represented at the concert, a large number of reservations having been made. The local musical contingent has planned any number of box parties, as well as theater parties in the main section of the house, insuring a cultured and brilliant audience. The local management was determined to make a brilliant close for the most successful season in the history of the Grand, and in doing so secured the services of Mme. Sembrich. It was a great financial responsibility, but expense was not a consideration in this move, and the results seem to warrant the motive which prompted the contract. Many good seats may yet be secured, provided prompt steps are taken. The sale is being conducted at the Grand box office. Those out of the city who contemplate attending the performance may make reservations by mail. The best seats in the house at the time the order is received will be reserved for them.

PLANTENE

Use It Instead of Lard

Use Plantene for cleanliness—made direct from prime golden-colored cotton seed oil and under absolutely cleanly and hygienic and sanitary conditions impossible in the making of lard from hog fat.

Use Plantene for healthfulness—has the health-preserving, health-improving properties of cotton seed oil—prevents and relieves dyspepsia caused by lard.

Use Plantene for its pleasing flavor—a delicate nutty flavor never found in lard.

Use Plantene for economy—only a trifle over half as much Plantene as lard should be used for all shortening.

Use Plantene for best results—makes all kinds of cakes and pastry, dainty, delicious and digestible, with a delicate crispness and a rich brown color impossible with lard.

The constant use of Plantene is an insurance against the evil effects of lard made from hog fat.

PLANTENE also takes the place of butter for all shortening—goes twice as far as Lard or Butter—does the same amount of shortening at half the cost.

THEY DISCUSSED THE TRUST CASES

Important Conference Held at the White House.

Attorney General Bonaparte, Root, Garfield and Cortelyou Among Those Present—Bonaparte Submitted His Program to the President.

Washington, April 3.—An important conference was held at the white house this afternoon on the subject of trust prosecutions under way by the department of justice. Those present included four members of the president's cabinet, Messrs. Root, Bonaparte, Garfield and Cortelyou.

The so-called tobacco trust was one of the subjects discussed. The discussion today was a general one, without reference to any particular trust or corporation and no conclusions were reached. Attorney General Bonaparte, it is said, is outlining a plan for action. He submitted his program to the president and his cabinet associates with the view of receiving any suggestions as to the best methods to pursue when the administration is ready to resume the trust prosecutions.

JOHNSON FILLS NEW POSITION

Manager of Publicity Department of Georgia Railway and Electric Co.

Announcement has just been made by Preston S. Arkwright, president of the Georgia Railway and Electric Company, that Edwin F. Johnson will fill the newly created position of manager of the publicity department.

The new position is best explained by Mr. Arkwright's letter, which follows: "The Georgia Railway and Electric Company has decided to establish a department of publicity. This department will handle all matters of advertising connected with the company, all matters of general news interest with relation to the company, as special attractions gotten up by the company and matters of similar nature."

"Mr. Edwin F. Johnson, who is known to me as a newspaper man of experience, has been appointed manager of this department. He will assume his duties on April 15. Among Mr. Johnson's duties will be that of giving out all information concerning developments undertaken by the company, as well as all other matters in which the public may have any interest. His office will be in the office of the president and his telephone number will be 4945. He has been instructed to supply full information to all of the newspapers about any matter they desire." Edwin F. Johnson is one of the best-known newspaper men in Atlanta. He began his career on The Atlanta Journal about six years ago and remained with that paper a short time, accepting an offer from The Constitution. He was for a time city editor of The Atlanta News and later went to New York, where he made a signal success on The American. When The Georgian was launched he returned to Atlanta as city editor, surrendering that position to go into the advertising field. He has practical knowledge of both editorial and business ends of a newspaper (something which is a rarity) and this equips him most admirably for his new duties. Mr. Johnson has hundreds of friends in all walks of life who will congratulate him and the Georgia Railway and Electric Company.

ERWIN'S SPEECH TOOK UP THE DAY

Government's Argument in the Greene and Gaynor Case.

Mr. Erwin Argued That Defendants Were Not Entitled to Benefits of Statute of Limitations, They Being Fugitives From Justice.

New Orleans, April 3.—The government's side of the argument in the Greene and Gaynor appeal was presented in an all-day speech by Marion Erwin today.

In rebuttal of the claim that the statute of limitations applied in this case, Mr. Erwin said the evidence showed Greene and Gaynor to have been fugitives from justice and he referred to a statute providing that persons fleeing from justice cannot have the benefit of the statute of limitations. He claimed that the defendants had found their exceptions to the charge of Judge Speer, in Savannah, upon which the appeal is based, too late, according to decisions of the supreme court of the United States. They ought, he said, to have filed them before the jury left the bar, but they had waited two days. Judge Speer had certified to the exceptions, even at that late day, in order to give the defendants all the rights claimed. Nevertheless, Mr. Erwin held, neither the attorneys nor the judge under the supreme court decision could make such exceptions valid. To allow exceptions long after trial, which had been made during trial, would result in the revival on mere technicality of cases which it took months to try.

Previous to taking up the legal points, Mr. Erwin reviewed the history of Greene and Gaynor's operations, with Captain Carter. He claimed that the three, as early as 1891, entered into an agreement for defrauding the government by letting contracts at exorbitant prices.

He said that the profits were shared in thirds, and that in five years they amounted to over two and one-quarter millions. He said the evidence showed that Carter, in 1891, jumped up the prices to be paid the contractors for their work over 300 per cent, and increased these prices to 400 per cent in 1892 at the same time shutting out competition. He claimed that this was accomplished through the withholding of specifications, and the manipulation of the options to the engineer to be exercised for specifications were let.

Mr. Erwin had not finished his argument when court adjourned until tomorrow.

STATEMENT MADE BY THE STEWARDS

Millen Board of Stewards Discuss Bryan Affair.

Minister Suspended Until Conference Was Promptly Discharged From Charge of Wife Beating—Warrant Sworn Out by Traveling Insurance Agent.

Millen, Ga., April 3.—(Special).—The board of stewards of the Millen Methodist church has issued the following statement in regard to the charges against Rev. Solon H. Bryan, pastor of the church at that place:

"In reference to reports appearing in your column concerning the Rev. Solon H. Bryan, much of which is misleading and foreign to the facts, in justice to our community, our church, and also Mr. Bryan, we wish to submit the following statement of fact:

"Last week the charge of immorality was brought against Mr. Bryan, which resulted in his suspension from his duties as a minister until he can be tried by his conference at the next fall. The investigating committee was composed of Dr. W. N. Ainsworth, Dr. J. H. Scruggs and Rev. T. R. Darley, and presided over by Rev. J. M. Lovett, presiding elder.

"On Saturday last following the investigation on Friday R. N. Berrien swore out a warrant charging Mr. Bryan with whipping his wife. This warrant was served by the sheriff at 4:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, and Mr. Bryan was conducted to the sheriff's office, where he remained in consultation with friends for several hours. He finally decided to give a cash bond for appearance. At this point a friend advised him of some uneasiness on the streets, and suggested that he remain in the sheriff's care until morning, but Mr. Bryan decided to take the 10:30 train for Macon and consult with friends, and was accompanied to the depot by the sheriff and two deputies, which arrangement was kindly made by the sheriff himself. Mr. Bryan returned Monday morning, and was present when the case was called, and announced ready for trial.

"After the state had introduced three negro witnesses, who testified to hearing noises about Mr. Bryan's home, but knew nothing of him ever mistreating or whipping his wife, here the state rested, and the attorneys for Mr. Bryan stated that the state had failed to prove anything, except negro rumors, and asked that the warrant be dismissed, and Mr. Bryan be discharged. The attorneys for the prosecution then stated that they had other evidence, and introduced two ladies, who testified that they had heard Mrs. Bryan crying, but did not know what caused her to cry, and did not know of Mr. Bryan ever mistreating her. Here the state closed, and the defense's attorneys asked that the defendant be discharged, inasmuch as the state had failed to make out any case, which the presiding justice, S. B. A. Wallace, a prominent member of the Baptist church, promptly did. The warrant against Mr. Bryan was sworn out by R. N. Berrien, who is not a member of the Methodist church, or any other church, neither is he a citizen of our city or county, but is a traveling insurance agent.

Five men were injured, two of them severely.

CUT THIS OUT

A Recipe for Consumption and the Quick Cure of Coughs and Colds.

A noted Philadelphia specialist states that consumption never comes from weak lungs which are sometimes inherited, but more often result from a neglected cough or cold.

Lungs weakened by nature or inflammation afford a lodging place for the tubercle germ and consumption follows. This is the whole thing in brief as stated by the great specialist. He gives a formula which has proven wonderfully effective in the cure of all throat and lung troubles and it is said will frequently cure a bad cold in twenty-four hours. The formula is the following: Give one-half ounce; concentrated oil of pine one-half ounce; whiskey half pint; mix and shake thoroughly; use in tablespoon doses every four hours. The ingredients are obtainable from any good prescription druggist and can easily be mixed at home.

The Concentrated oil of pine is a comparatively new product, but was welcomed by physicians on account of its being soluble, a quality long sought. Care should be taken to make sure to get the "Concentrated," which always comes put up in half-ounce bottles inclosed in round screw-top cases intended to protect the oil from heat and light and retain its full strength of ozone.

JOHN R. WALSH CALLED TO BAR

Chicago, April 3.—John R. Walsh, the former president of the Chicago National bank, of this city, now under indictment on charges of misapplying the funds of the bank, was arraigned today in the federal court. He pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for October 15.

The attorneys of Mr. Walsh demanded that the government furnish them with a bill of particulars, and when this was refused Judge Anderson announced that he would hear arguments in support of and against the motion to furnish the bill.

After listening to the arguments of the attorneys for the defense, Judge Anderson refused to grant the motion as presented for a bill of particulars. The motion filed was more voluminous than the first one, which was withdrawn several weeks ago. Today's motion contained not only the first motion, but a supplemental summary embodying in it a brief statement of the original.

YOUNG MEN FOR THE PULPIT

Great Need of Christian Churches for More Ministers.

Cincinnati, April 3.—The refusal to merge the educational and home and foreign missionary societies of the Disciples of Christ and a plea for 2,000 young preachers to fill the unoccupied pulpits, were the features of the meeting of the American Educational Society here today. The society merger proposition came before that meeting as a suggestion to simplify the business of the church by combining the American Christian Educational Society, the American Christian Missionary Society and the Foreign Christian Missionary Society. A negative decision was given almost immediately. The merger of church societies was fought on the ground that missionary society funds being given for a specific purpose cannot be applied in educational purposes and that, therefore, complications would be likely to arise if the educational work, comprising some 40 Christian colleges in various parts of the south should be placed in control of the missionary societies. Besides, it was considered very improbable that any move for a merger of the home and foreign missionary societies can be carried into effect. Before the educational society, however, the shortage in the number of ministers was the topic, it being shown that there are about 1,300,000 members in the Christian churches of the country and only about 7,000 ministers to take charge of them. The vacant pulpits already number over 2,000 and that number is constantly on the increase as the Christian church membership grows. It was the consensus of opinion that the churches should be more active in showing young men members their duty to take up the ministerial calling. There was a complaint made that the salaries paid young ministers are in many instances far below what they should be to make the ministry possible for them.

S.S.S. PURIFIES THE BLOOD

There is no other part of our physical system upon which so much depends as upon the blood. The muscles, nerves, bones, sinews, skin, and other portions of the body are sustained, developed and enabled to perform their different duties, because they are supplied with nourishment and healthful properties through the circulation. In various ways the blood becomes contaminated and polluted. A sluggish, inactive condition of the system, and torpid state of the avenues of bodily waste, will leave the refuse and waste matter of the body to sour and form uric and other acids, which are absorbed into the blood and Rheumatism, or some itching, disfiguring skin disease is the result. Muddy, sallow complexions, eruptions, spots, pimples, etc., all show that some humor has taken root in the circulation and rendered it sour and unfit for nourishing the body. There is scarcely any disease which cannot be traced to the blood. Often the disease-tainted blood of parents is handed down to children and their lives are a continual battle against disease in some form, usually of a scrofulous nature. Rheumatism, Catarrh, Skin Diseases, Sores and Ulcers, Contagious Blood Poison, etc., are all deep-seated blood troubles, and until this vital fluid is purified they cannot be cured. For all blood diseases S.S.S. is the best remedy ever put upon the market. This great medicine is made of roots, herbs and barks of recognized blood-purifying and building-up properties. It goes down into the circulation and removes all poisons, impurities and humors, supplies the blood with the healthful properties it needs and completely cures blood diseases of every kind. S.S.S. cures Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Skin Diseases, Sores and Ulcers, Contagious Blood Poison, etc., because it purifies the blood. Book on the blood and medical advice free.

KNIVES WHELTED IN COBB COUNTY

Factions Getting Ready for Some Bloody Work.

Purchase of Paper by the Guber Supporters Shows That the Old Story of a Hard Factional Fight is to Be Told Again.

There is evidently going to be some more lively political skirmishing up in Cobb county, according to a story current at the capitol. Cobb has for years been known as a hotbed of politics of the warm sort, and the present indications are that there is no likelihood of harmony, at least not in the immediate present.

The latest indication is the reported purchase by Judge George F. Gober, or his friends and supporters of the Marietta Journal, which has been acquired by them from the former owners, Neal & Massey, and which, it is stated, will become a Gober organ. This gives both sides a newspaper. The Cobb County Courier being owned by Hon. Newt A. Morris and managed by Fred Morris, his brother.

Thus, harmony, far from being in sight, seems further off than ever. It is to be the same old battle, it seems, between the Gober and the Morris factions. It was reported also that the Gober people are on the lookout for a red-hot editorial writer, one of the sizzling sort, to run that end of the game.

Of course all this evidently means something, and it has been pretty well understood that Mr. Morris would make another race for the judgeship of the Blue Ridge circuit for which he was defeated by Judge Gober three years ago. Mr. Morris, it is stated, means this time to make the fight of his life. His opponents know it and it would appear they are getting ready for him.

It has been reported that Judge Gober would not be in the race, but later reports throw some doubt on that matter. The purchase of The Marietta Journal is, in itself, significant.

On the other hand it had been the belief that things were shaping up for the present solicitor general of the circuit, Hon. B. F. Simpson, to make the race for Judge, who, if he runs, will undoubtedly have the support of the Gober faction.

In any event the situation is already getting interesting up in Cobb and the Blue Ridge circuit, and the two rival weeklies will be closely watched for developments.

WAS MEMBER OF FEUDIST GANG.

Murderer of Atlanta Woman From Breathitt County, Kentucky. Chattanooga, Tenn., April 3.—Edward Turner, the husband of the young woman murdered on Lookout mountain yesterday, is a member of the Turner feudist gang, in Breathitt county, Kentucky. It is said that he has been tried two or three times for murder. No trace of him has been found. The murder was committed in plain view of the incline tracks, the throat of the handsome young woman being cut.

BITTEN BY A SPIDER.

Through blood poisoning caused by a spider bite, John Washington of Bosqueville, Tex., would have lost his leg, which became a mass of running sores, had he not been persuaded to try Buckle's Arnica Salve. He writes: "The first application relieved, and four boxes healed all the sores." Heals every sore, 25c, at all druggists.

Judge Speer Slightly Ill.

Macon, Ga., April 3.—(Special.)—The report comes from "The Cedars," Judge Emory Speer's handsome Vineville home, that he is rapidly overcoming an illness which has confined him for several days. This was said to have been due to overwork during the Savannah term of the federal court. Many friends have been concerned, and hope a speedy recovery. The family physician, Dr. H. McHatten, has been in attendance at the bedside, but Judge Speer has improved so that he will soon again be at his official duties.

Permanent Council for Mercer.

Macon, Ga., April 3.—(Special.)—The faculty and trustees of Mercer have planned for a permanent council for the filling of all positions of honor, trust or responsibility connected with the student body of the institution. The announcement was made in the chapel this morning by President S. Y. Jameson. He read the resolutions which had been drawn and passed upon and stated to the students that the plan had been passed upon by both faculty and trustees. This action will, it is believed, remove all disadvantages afforded in the so-called political slating done by the two opposing factions among the students.

Athletic Carnival Coming.

Macon, Ga., April 3.—(Special.)—Director Tyson and Secretary McFadden have arranged for the first annual gymnastic events for the Young Men's Christian Association, to be held on the evening of April 25, at the Grand opera house. There are numbers of classes among the boys and business men of the city who are making arrangements for this occasion. The training of the winter will be exemplified in fear of the evening. Much interest has already been taken and the members of all classes will be well prepared for the exhibition which will be made before the general public on this occasion.

The membership in the league will consist of nearly all the towns and cities in the state. There are already many of the leading mayors on the membership lists and always on the occasion of the annual meeting many new ones are added. This is fast becoming a very popular organization and the work done in the business sessions is always made of sufficient importance to justify any head of a municipal government in traveling the full length of the state to attend.

A Sale of Direct From Paris, Hand-made French Underwear

If the linking of the word "Sale" with Paris Hand-Made Underwear seems the height of incongruity, perhaps it's because you've come to think of these dainty creations as a sort of secluded, exclusive and limited branch of the Muslin Underwear family that comes out to be shown only on very special occasions. Lingerie kept in reserve for the delectation of the brides-to-be.

But this Muslin Underwear department has grown to proportions that admit of greater things. It is able to go direct to Paris, see, select, and then have Paris come direct to it without the fingers of any New York house in the affair.

But as the stock reaches a point where "Special Sales" are possible, there's no lapse in attention to the things that make French hand-made Underwear the envy and object of admiration the world over—daintiness and fineness.

These things are little short of marvelous in their artistic conceptions. How a bit of white Mousseline Lace and Ribbon can be transformed into anything so ethereally lovely, as some of the specimens are, is, to put it mildly, passing strange.

We want you to see them—and we know of no more magnetic way than to couple a general reduction of prices with your natural curiosity to see something that was actually made in Paris. These prices for a few days only.

THE CITY'S OPPORTUNITY.

There is a lesson in the result of Chicago's recent municipal election which may well cause other communities confronted by weighty problems to sit up and take notice. It is this: A mayor, or a municipal government, may sometimes overshoot the mark aimed at and "fall on t'other side."

Mayor Dunne, a democrat, backed by a democratic council, had great opportunities confronting him. He was elected two years ago upon a platform which demanded adequate traction service and fair compensation for municipal franchises, to the extent of municipal ownership, if necessary.

Chicago's city council proceeded to a thorough investigation of the question, the result of which was the framing and passage of an ordinance providing for immediate rehabilitation of the street railway lines, 5-cent fares to any point, with universal transfer payment to the city of 55 per cent of the net revenues, and the city's right to acquire the entire street railway properties at a fixed sum at any time upon six months' notice of its intention to do so.

This seemed to fair-minded democrats and republicans alike a splendid solution of the vexed street railway problem. But Mayor Dunne could not see it in that light, and vetoed the ordinance.

Aiming too high—at immediate and absolute municipal ownership—he overshoot the mark and turned a plurality of 25,000 votes two years ago into a defeat by 13,000. The ordinance satisfied the people, as is evidenced by a 40,000 majority in favor of its adoption.

On a smaller scale, but equally important to the people of the community, a somewhat similar situation confronts Atlanta, particularly as to the question of street lighting.

The present contract for lighting Atlanta's streets expires within a year, and yet not an official voice has been raised looking to the making of a new contract on lower and more favorable terms. Not even has there appeared in council the preliminary resolution looking to an investigation of this matter. We have had nothing but some estimates looking to the erection of a municipally owned lighting plant, which are all very well in their way, but that is only one branch of the matter, to stop with which is folly.

A new electric lighting company bringing its power from Gainesville has been allowed to come into the city, in the hope that it would bring competition and reduction of rates. One of the conditions of its coming was that the price of street lights should be reduced from $75 to at least $65 a year.

Already there is talk of consolidation, with enough smoke about it to have some sort of a fire for its foundation, and should this be consummated, where, then, would be the competition?

The duty that confronts the city government is to FIND OUT, and FIND OUT RIGHT NOW, what its street lighting is going to cost under the next contract into which it may have to enter. Let's have the bids now and ascertain what the city will have to pay for the next contract period. Then if it is found that the city can secure the necessary lighting more cheaply than it can make it, interest and wear and tear included, let the contract be made.

If, however, it should be ascertained that the city cannot secure its lights at a price equivalent to that at which it could make them with a plant of its own, whether due to consolidation or other causes, then let the municipally owned lighting plant be pushed for all it is worth.

The only advantage which now confronts the city is time, but prompt action is necessary to secure the full benefit of it. A little delay, a combination of the lighting companies and the city may find itself forced to enter into another lighting contract at exorbitant rates, with the doubtful opportunity of securing a municipal plant postponed until contract time again approaches.

By taking hold of the matter now it may be possible to save the city $15,000 to $20,000 a year for the next five years in the single item of street lighting—an aggregate total of $75,000 to $100,000.

Is there any one who will deny that it is worth the while?

A STATE BOARD FOR TRAINED NURSES.

The trained nurses of Georgia have clear right and justice on their side when they ask that the legislature create a state board which shall pass upon the qualifications of all nurses representing themselves as such in a professional capacity, before they are permitted the privilege of registering for or accepting the public patronage.

The nurses at whose request, Hon. Madison Bell will introduce a bill to this effect at the next session have spent long days of study and sleepless nights of watching in qualifying for their diplomas.

It is not just to them, the physicians or patients that they should be brought into competition with parties claiming to be nurses but who, by lack of preparation, are not entitled to a professional designation.

The movers in this matter make it plain that they have no desire or intention to interfere with any individual now pursuing the private or public vocation of nursing. Their end is the protection of themselves and the public against the employment of persons posing as trained nurses, when they have no actual right to that title.

Latter day medical practice has made the profession of trained nursing one of the most important adjuncts to the treatment of disease, and one of the noblest callings open to women. It nearly approaches that of the physician in its sacredness, and its intimate connection with the public welfare.

As such, the profession is entitled to the same recognition—and the public to the same protection—as is provided in the creation by the state of similar boards to regulate the practice of law, of medicine and of pharmacy.

PUCKETT AND THE PELICAN.

All interest in municipal ownership, civil service and Alderman Key's injunctions will be temporarily absorbed by contemplation of the probable fate of the Grant Park pelican. The minutes of the most recent meeting of the Park board indicate too inevitably the nature of the Damoclean sword that is hanging over him: Referred to Commissioner Puckett with power to act.

But the discussion preceding this action is what throws most light on the impending danger to the unoffending and blissfully ignorant bird. "That fowl eats up $30 worth of fish a year," said Commissioner Puckett. The omniscience of that remark was ill-concealed. But suppose he does, didn't the park board naturalist know the pelican's natural diet was fish? And could he not have given an estimate of about how much and the cost of same at current market rates? With this pelican estimate before it, that body could have known just what confronted it in the way of expense; that it did not is no fault of the pelican's, and is it not now up to the park board to suffer in silence the results of its own dereliction rather than make a scapegoat of that innocent and dignified bird, so contemptuously dubbed a fowl?

Measures of stature considered, it is not unreasonable to say the big-billed bird has furnished more enjoyment to Grant park visitors, particularly the children, than Maude, the elephant. But would any park commissioner dare suggest summary removal, even if it were discovered that Maude was consuming as much food in one month as the pelican eats in twelve? We venture not.

This is not all. What follows is even more pregnant with danger. "He's as ugly as a buzzard," said Commissioner Chosewood, forgetting nature's variety in the consumption of her art. Suppose we follow out this line of reasoning and proceed about removing all that is ugly, would not the beautiful then cease to exist? Would all of the members of the park board, we might well ask, escape conviction under such an indictment as that?

Then hear this: "I move we knock him on the head," from Commissioner Ellis. Fortunately the motion did not carry, but are not these ominous expressions almost equivalent to a death warrant under the "power to act" given Commissioner Puckett?

We fear the worst and yet take hope in the fact that judgment was not passed by the full board. Perhaps there will be thereon one heart stirred to make an effective plea for justice.

If not, if the pelican's piscatorial appetite is too strenuous for the park board treasury in the present state of the fish market, let him not be fed to the Kansas coveys. Let him rather be presented to some other zoo where he may continue to furnish innocent enjoyment commensurate with his epicurean tastes.

GOVERNOR BROWARD'S DREAM.

Governor Broward, in his biennial message to the Florida legislature, joins the ranks of the few visionaries who believe that colonization is the only solution of the negro problem.

Mere money and the stupendous nature of the proposition present no dilemmas to the hopeful governor. He would just have the government buy all the property of the negroes; purchase a tract of land in this country, or elsewhere, and remove the entire race, bag and baggage, to this somber-hued Utopia, providing for a United States protectorate and passing laws to prevent a single son of Ham from oozing back into this country.

Simplicity personified—on paper. Grotesquely impossible—in reality. We do not question Governor Broward's earnestness. But we do believe if he took a poll of the practical thinkers—the employers of labor—in his state, he would find his views absolutely unsupported.

The negro is here to stay. Whether brought here for our own or his own good or evil is immaterial. We cannot evade his presence, and the fact that it is permanent.

The proposition to colonize him is as logical as would be the proposition to colonize fast-breeding rats or rabbits—the very numbers of which almost defy enumeration. Over eleven million of his species inhabit the south today. The birth rate keeps blithely ahead of the death rate.

Who is going to pay, governor, for a tract of land large enough to accommodate eleven million human beings? Who is going to provide money to buy up their property—valued into the many millions? Who will defray the expense of their transportation? Where will you find sufficient cars and ships, passenger and freight, to transport this multiplying horde?

The nation will not listen, now nor a century hence, to any such proposition. The voter in Washington state, in Michigan, in Maine, would not, for one moment, entertain a project that meant the lavishing of some billions of the nation's money. They don't even know enough about the subject to discuss it intelligently.

The south would not, broadly speaking, tolerate such a solution. In Georgia we even have a law making it a crime to solicit negro labor to go outside the state borders. The forthcoming legislature is committed to negro disfranchisement. But a proposition to repeal the Georgia law that penalizes the negro immigrant agent would not receive serious consideration by that same legislature. That's more Georgia sentiment. And, as the subject bears intimately on the grievous labor problem, it's southern sentiment, also.

Why not eliminate, forever, this chimerical project of colonization? Instead of shooting arrows into the air, of wasting energy, mental and physical, upon "solutions" that condemn themselves, it is incumbent upon leaders like Governor Broward to resolutely face the situation and address themselves toward rational attempts at its solution.

Albert E. Thornton.

The death of Albert E. Thornton removes a man whose life aptly typifies the aggressive commercial and civilian spirit of Atlanta.

He was, essentially, a man of affairs—of large affairs. His financial acumen and administrative ability are seen in his active share in the development of one of the city's oldest and most substantial fiscal institutions—the Atlanta National bank, of which he was vice president at the time of his death.

The constructive and far-seeing qualities of his mind are, however, more prominently indicated in his connection with the cotton seed oil industry.

He was one of its pioneers. When—years ago—he first became identified with the treatment of cotton by-products, the average citizen—the farmer himself—had no conception of the almost miraculous manner in which it was destined to evolve into its present proportions.

Mr. Thornton had a very clear perception of its possibilities. He applied practical imagination and unfagging energy toward their materialization. These by-products now figure in a bewildering array of everyday commodities, including the fine and mechanical arts and food for the barn and the tables of the human family. They have invaded foreign nations; their usefulness is merely in its infancy, and Mr. Thornton was largely instrumental in this twentieth century practical magic.

His characteristics as a citizen—admirably supplemented those as a business man. The entire state has sustained a loss in his death.

The Atlanta Elks.

Among the fraternal orders which figure in the benevolent and philanthropic work of the city, none are more useful or active than the Atlanta Lodge of Elks.

They are now planning four benefit performances, the proceeds from which are to be applied to the furnishing of their handsome new home and to the humanitarian work for which this order is noted.

They well merit the patronage of the public.

As a body, they comprise some of the most substantial residents of the city, characterized by an incurable optimism and a constant geniality which takes them away above and beyond the ordinary classification of "good fellows."

Their benefactions are numerous, continuous and discriminating only as between worthy and unworthy applications.

The Constitution wishes their present crusade and their permanent mission a hearty "God speed!"

JUDGE DENOUNCES SUNDAY GOLF.

He Says It is as Bad as Selling.

Montgomery, Ala., April 3.—(Special.)—A Birmingham judge has said that playing golf on Sunday is as much of a violation of the law as selling whiskey and that it is as bad as selling whiskey.

In fact, he was charging the grand jury when he said it. "The man who plays golf on Sunday regards the Sabbath more than the bartender who sells whiskey on that day," Judge D. A. Greene is quoted as saying. This has given the local golfers a start and they are now looking about to see if there is not a chance to get into trouble themselves.

Three Men Over Falls.

Macoon, Ga., April 3.—(Special.)—Civil Engineer C. A. Caldwell, Ralph Small and a companion named Stephens were over the falls in the Ocmulgee river at Dames Ferry yesterday evening, while they were making surveys in a boat. All were saved, and suffered no injuries other than being excited and turned into the rapids.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Editor Constitution: In a recent issue of The Boston Herald there was contained a quotation from your paper, referring to the proposition of General A. J. West, that if he were elected in your city in 1908 there be a grand reunion of the survivors of both northern and southern armies. I want to say, as a veteran who served three years in the "Yankee forces," that I am delighted to hear of a move in that direction. It is something that I have long been hoping to see accomplished, and it seems that it is ever to be enough to say that it is attended to the better. The remainder of both armies are fast passing into the ranks of those beyond. I know there are thousands in both armies who would delight to meet one another, and even embrace each other, as they remembered and talked over those days that tried our souls, and, besides, we are now living far enough away from that event to understand its true meaning. I want to thank you for voicing the sentiments of General West, and I pray that our leading officials of the Grand Army of the Republic and Confederate Veterans, and also the press of both the north and south may labor together to bring about this sublime event. Most respectfully yours,

J. J. PATTERSON.

Late of Company K, Seventeenth Massachusetts Volunteers, Edgemoor, Mass.

Prospects Fine.

Editor Constitution: The weather man missed his figures slightly and let the wind die nearly away from 4 to 6 a. m. today. The thermometer went to 29 degrees, and as a result the peach orchards, in the bottoms, are among the "has-beens." But "the hill tops" of the famous Chattahoochee ridge are showing up fine. They have a spare a few trees, for they have all the can well be cared for.

The prospect of the Cornelia peach section has been extra fine, and as most of the peaches are on these ridges, are still safe. What per cent it will cut in the total number of cars to be shipped from here it would be hard to say at the present writing. It is barely possible we may get another cold snap. But it can hardly be as serious as this.

Most of the apple blossoms are not far enough out to kill, although some are gone, as they are usually planted in the low spots. Yours, I. C. WADE, Cornelia, Ga.

ON THE STREET CAR.

He's a funny kind of fellow is the fellow with the toy; You meet him in the evening with a face that's full of joy— It's a doll for little Lizzie, or an engine for the boy. And he thinks that everybody's interested. On the car he'll chatter to you—what he thinks the kids will say, How they'll shout on his arrival in extreme ecstasy. And you doubt not that the fellow'll be as happy as will they, As the bundles from their wrappings are divested.

You grow bored, and rather restless as the tale he doth unfold. You don't care about the engine, or the doll with eyes so bold: It's a story that you recognize as one that's rather old— But somehow you listen to it unprotesting.

For you know the fellow going home with bundles full of toys, Thinking only of the little folks, and all the dirty boys. Is the one who makes the nation—and, though sometimes he annoys, He is worth the world's attention, whether dull or interesting.

Bank President Dies Suddenly.

Fort Gaines, Ga., April 3.—(Special.)—A. L. Foster died here suddenly this afternoon with heart failure. He had just gone from his place of business, reached home and was talking to his wife when he died suddenly. Mr. Foster was an ex-senator of Clay county and was president of the First National bank and one of the wealthiest citizens of Clay county. He leaves a wife, one son, John Foster; two daughters, Mrs. T. S. Fordham and Mrs. J. W. Grimley.

Supplies for Postoffices.

Washington, April 3.—One of the reforms inaugurated by the division of supplies of the postoffice department since that division was placed under the supervision of Fourth Assistant Postmaster General DeGraw is the notification of postmasters throughout the country to order supplies for their offices in sufficient quantities to serve for one year.

CAPITOL GOSSIP.

SECRETARY GOODLOE TANNOR.

of the prison commission received notice yesterday of the recapture, in Sumter county, of Gus Nelson, a penitentiary convict who is also under sentence in the Sumter county chaingang for several misdemeanors, and who has had rather a checkered career, as a convict.

Nelson was convicted in Houston county in 1893 and sentenced to the state penitentiary for fifteen years. In 1901 he escaped from the penitentiary and later was convicted in Sumter county of certain misdemeanors and sentenced to two or three years service on the chaingang.

Then the prison commission, pardoned an old negro named Elijah Minor who had been serving a life sentence in the penitentiary. When Minor returned to his home in Americus, he recognized Gus Nelson as a penitentiary convict who had served with him in the camp at Fargo, and told his lawyer, H. R. Simmons, about it. Mr. Simmons communicated the facts to the prison commission. Nelson was taken from the chaingang and placed in jail, but the Sumter county authorities refused to give him up to the state authorities. The commission then submitted the question to Attorney General John C. Hart, who gave an opinion to the effect that the state penitentiary was entitled to the convict and he should be turned over to the commission.

In the meantime Nelson escaped from jail at Americus, where it appears convicts have had a habit of escaping, some nineteen of them having gotten away within a period of a month. But the notice came today that Nelson had been recaptured. Now the prison commission will serve the Sumter county authorities with Judge Hart's opinion and make demand for Nelson in order that he may complete his service in the penitentiary.

Tax on State Property.

According to reports published in Chattanooga papers that city is making a great deal to do over the appearance of the terminals of the Western and Atlantic railroad there, which are the property of the state. Governor Terrell recently employed a Tennessee lawyer to go before the proper committee of the Tennessee legislature and enter protest against a bill which proposed to give the city of Chattanooga the right to open one of its streets across the entire right of way of the state road in that city, which would almost have destroyed most terminals. The bill is still pending in the legislature at Nashville.

Now a great hue and cry has been raised as to the liability of the state of Georgia for taxation of certain buildings which have been erected on the state's property in Chattanooga and rented, and on which, it is stated, no taxes are being paid. That is a matter with which, according to state officials, Georgia has nothing to do. It is specifically provided in the lease to the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis that the lessee company shall pay all taxes which may be levied against the property in the state of Tennessee, so this is a matter which is entirely up to the lessees.

Geodetic Survey Headquarters.

The building of a little six by eight shed on the capitol grounds, being very much the appearance of a railroad section house, aroused considerable curiosity and comment yesterday morning.

Investigation developed the fact that no less a concern than the United States government is constructing this shed, and the architect is being superintended by William Bowie of the United States Coast and Geodetic survey office. The

PUCKETT'S PET PELICAN; OR, WHO WANTS A BIRD?

PUCKETT AND THE PELICAN.

A Story of the Gress Zoo at Grant Park Which Has Its Pathetic as Well as Its Humorous Features.

WHEN Waldo Puckett was honored by a seat in the park commission, one of the duties assigned to him was to look after the pelican in the zoo. Among these pets there is a pelican. A pelican is a large web-footed bird that doesn't eat anything but fish. It has a long bill with a bag under it, which was made to hold fish. Waldo Puckett began to cut down the expense of feeding the pelican, and he found that the pelican ate up two pounds of fish every two days, and that it cost about $40 a year to keep up the fish supply. So he went before the park board, and said that he didn't think a pelican was enough of a pet to be worth $40 a year. The commission appointed Waldo Puckett a committee of one to settle the pelican question, and with power to act.

Yesterday morning Waldo Puckett paid a visit to the park, and took a look at the pelican, a birds-eye view, so to speak. He saw that the bird was ugly, lazy and a glutton. It was too lazy to catch the small fish in the lake; it was uglier than the bald-headed eagle, or the monkey-faced owl; it was hungry all the time.

"It is my opinion we ought to get rid of you," said Waldo Puckett to the pelican, which winked one eye and opened its huge bill for a half of fish. "But how are we going to do it? We can let you starve to death, and if we do that the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals will pull us. We might try to shoot you off, and make you fly back to Florida, but you are too darned lazy to fly. We might sell you, or we might give you away."

He decided to sell it. Waldo Puckett decided to sell the pelican. So he picked up the bird, tucked it under his arm, and started for town. He went to all the places where curiosities are kept, including the saloons that

Made a Talk Before the Savannah Board of Trade.
Savannah, Ga., April 3.—(Special.)—The annual meeting of the Savannah board of trade was held today and was largely attended. A feature of the meeting was an address by John A. He talked of the advantages of Savannah as a shipping point and urged the board not to give over its efforts to have Savannah made an immigration station. Mr. Betjeman left for New York this afternoon.

Albany, Ga., April 3.—(Special.)—L. P. Mashburn, white, was shot today by Policeman Raley. The officer had arrested Mashburn and was carrying him to jail when, it is stated, he jumped out of the buggy. Raley drew his pistol and fired. The ball entered the right knee and the leg will have to be amputated. Several warrants were out against Mashburn, charging him with obtaining money under false pretenses.

COMMITTEE MADE A FULL REPORT

What Will Be Done for Oakland Cemetery.

Committee Reported on Its Condition, and Pointed Out What Should Be Done to Carry It and Keep the Records Straight.

The special committee appointed by the city council to investigate the condition of Oakland cemetery made a very exhaustive and complete report at the last meeting of council, to which were attached several very important recommendations.

The recommendations were published in full in The Constitution, but only a portion of the report was given, as it was quite lengthy.

The Constitution yesterday morning referred editorially to the matter and stated that the recommendations were somewhat vague on two points relating to the beautifying of the cemetery and the keeping of perfect records. The report of the committee covered these two points very fully. Several paragraphs were devoted to the condition of the cemetery with reference to what should be done to put the place in good condition and kept it so in the future.

In referring to the records the report said:

"We find in the sexton's office that prior to 1893 there was used only a book giving the name, cause of death, attending physician, and these entries were made at random, one beneath the other with no index, and to obtain any information regarding the dead prior to 1893 becomes almost impossible. Since Sexton Barfield entered the office in 1893 he has kept a very accurate record of deaths and interments with other data. However, since 1900 he has omitted the undertaker's name in his record, which we consider an important entry. He needs a more up-to-date set of records and files."

Councilman Walter A. Taylor, chairman of the special committee, said yesterday that he heartily endorsed the editorial in The Constitution and he believed that the matter had been agitated the cemetery would soon be in excellent shape and that the improvements would be of a permanent nature. He felt sure that the records in the future would be well kept.

Councilman Taylor has done a great work in having Oakland looked after and before he retires from the council he expects to have the city's resting place for the dead no longer filled with crumbling walls, falling monuments and rain-washed driveways.

WAGONS FOR THE VETERANS.

Those Who Will Supply Them Requested to Report Same to Captain O. H. Hall.

The Memorial day committee is in need of twenty-five sewing wagons for the use of the Confederate veterans of Atlanta on Memorial day, in order that these veterans may see and join in the parade on that occasion.

The veterans are getting older and more feeble every year, and there are more of them who have to be looked after on the occasion of the Memorial day parade. The Southern Express Company has always furnished five or six wagons for the occasion, but these will be far from sufficient this year, as there are about 100 veterans at the Soldiers' home alone who are anxious to take part in the parade, and who cannot stand the fatigue of walking. There are also many others besides these in the city for whom provision will have to be made.

The committee requests that any one who will be kind enough to assist in this good work by loaning one or more wagons, decorated for the parade on April 28, report the fact to Captain O. H. Hall, English-American building, chief of staff to the grand marshal.

"THE CLANSMAN" AT COLUMBUS.

Play Was Presented Despite Protests of Negro Preachers.

Columbus, Ga., April 3.—(Special.)—"The Clansman" has come and gone, and the opinion of conservative people who saw the play is that its production can do no good. The play was presented at the opera house in this city, despite the protest of the colored ministerial union, who had petitioned the mayor to have the date canceled. One prominent white pastor, Rev. Dr. M. Ashby Jones, pastor of the First Baptist church, made a statement in his pulpit, saying the play was unnecessary and could do no good, but at the same time he made no direct appeal to the city authorities to suppress the production. At the same time his view was known, having been given publicity by the local press.

A press representative of "The Clansman" made a lengthy reply to Rev. Dr. Jones in one of the local newspapers. The ministerial union, however, declining to be drawn into a controversy on the subject.

The production of "The Clansman" in Columbus this season was not near so strong as last season. It seems to have been "toned down" considerably.

POSTMASTER HAS DEFAULTED.

Aniston Postmaster's Whereabouts Are Now Unknown.

Aniston, Ala., April 3.—Postmaster J. M. Ragan, of this city, has defaulted, and since last Friday his whereabouts have been unknown to his wife and friends. Postoffice Inspector Barry, who is investigating the books, said today:

"There is no doubt that Ragan is a defaulter. I can tell it from the entries he has made in his books. It hardly seems probable that he could have secured money to the amount of $4,000. Saturday was pay day at the Aniston post office, but no funds were on hand with which to pay the force, Ragan having disappeared the day before. Eleven days ago Frank Roberts, a register clerk, disappeared, and it is alleged he took $300. Inspector Barry is trying to connect the two defaulters."

POLICE FORCE IS REORGANIZED

Chief Appoints Attaches at the Barracks.

Why the Twenty-One Old Men Were Dropped—Chief Selected Men and Now Has Full Power How the Members of the Board Talk.

Chief Jennings made the following appointments in the police department yesterday morning:

James A. Patterson, secretary; John T. Cooper, detective clerk; M. J. Wright, superintendent of signal service; H. A. Dennard, J. K. Throver and W. L. McLean, signal operators; A. J. Wingate, lineaman; J. S. Alford, F. H. Trammell and J. W. Veal, patrol drivers; J. C. Carlisle, custodian; A. L. Poole and W. A. Chawning, wheel sergeants; W. A. Bonnell, recorder's court bailiff; W. P. Manly, barracks guard; Patrolman Dukes and Carson, Grant park policemen; Mike White, Piedmont park policeman.

Patrolman Cornett, who has been at Grant park with Dukes, will be one of the wagon officers.

The chief was busy yesterday placing the officers and men on the different watches.

The members of the police board adhered to the statement that they intended to make the chief the only head of the police force.

When the board adjourned Tuesday night, Chairman Morris Brandon said to a reporter of The Constitution:

"I wish to make a statement for publication, and will the chief to hear what I have to say."

Chief Selected the Force.

Mr. Brandon called to the chief and then continued:

"We have left off twenty-one of the old men tonight, and every man dropped was not elected because the chief did not want him elected. The men we retained were kept because the chief said they were good officers. We read off the list of the old men, one name at a time, and asked the chief what he thought of the men. Upon the chief's reply we acted."

The chief afterwards stated to the reporter that the three new captains were also in the room, and took part in the selection of the members of the force.

Some inquiries are being made as to how many of the policemen who refused to resign two years ago, so that civil service might be instituted at that time, were promoted.

The chief afterwards stated to the reporter that the three new captains were also in the room, and took part in the selection of the members of the force.

When asked yesterday why the twenty-one old men were dropped from the force, members of the board said that it was done on the recommendation of the chief, and the reasons assigned by him were either drinking, too much mouth or a failure to pay debts.

In arranging the watches yesterday Chief Jennings placed Captain Beavers on the morning watch, which goes on duty at 12 o'clock at night; Captain Norman on the day watch, and Captain Jeff on the evening watch. Station Sergeant Mayo is on the morning watch, Joiner on the day watch, and Lindsay on the evening watch. Officer Holcombe has been detailed as assistant to Station Sergeant Lindsay, and Officer Will Turner as assistant to Sergeant Joiner.

The election is generally satisfactory to the citizens, and it is believed that the police department will give the city the very best of service.

The board will probably elect an assistant chief of police at its next meeting, after the city council has adopted an ordinance which has been introduced creating that office.

NO PERMIT GIVEN COMPANY BY CITY

Records About North Georgia Electric Company.

Atlanta Telephone and Telegraph Company to Lay Conductors—Report Is Started About City Buying Out Both of the Companies.

The records at the city hall, according to a report by the city clerk, do not show that the North Georgia Electric Company has ever applied for or received any permit to lay conduits, or string wires in the streets of the city for the purpose of supplying light and power.

City Clerk Campbell states that he has examined the records, and he finds that the petition of the company was for conduits to be laid by the Atlanta Telephone and Telegraph Company, the electric company to use such conduits.

"When the matter first came up," states the city clerk, "Mayor Woodward called attention to the fact that the North Georgia Electric Company was seeking to use conduits and wires of the Atlanta Telephone and Telegraph Company, and he did not think such a grant should be allowed."

"The matter was referred to a committee, which reported that the petition was all right, and it was granted."

The telephone company has been laying conduits on North Boulevard, but the work has not progressed very much. A few hands have worked some, but what they have done has been intermittent.

It seems from this that the Atlanta Telephone and Telegraph Company and the North Georgia Electric Company have been or are very closely allied financially and in other ways.

A report has been circulated that a plan is on foot to get the city to buy the Atlanta Telephone and Telegraph Company and the North Georgia Electric Company for an electric light plant.

Just who is behind such a movement is not known, no names being mentioned in that connection.

City officials who have heard the report believe it has emanated from the promoters of the North Georgia Electric Company.

It is said that the city can buy out the two companies for something like $2,000,000.

Remarkable member of the city council yesterday afternoon, "but there appears to be two reasons why the deal can not be consummated. The first is that nobody wants the city to own telephones, and the second is that the city hasn't the two millions of dollars."

Councilman Longino says he is going to push the resolution to get a charter amendment to allow the people to vote on a $300,000 bond issue for an electric light plant. He thinks that is the only way in which the city can ever own its electric light plant.

But a 'possum perched pensively on the point of a telegraph pole in the heart of the busiest part of the city was a sight so rare that traffic was almost blocked in front of the Empire building a day or so ago.

The 'possum in question was a pet and the property of one of the attaches of the Empire building who had mercifully spared him the fate which befalls most 'possums which stray from their bucolic haunts. In some manner he escaped into the street, where he became bewildered by the unaccustomed noises of the city. There was no tree in sight, but Brer 'Possum was in the predicament of Brer Rabbit on a certain memorable occasion when he was "jes bleeged to climb," so he made for the nearest telegraph pole, and in a very few moments was viewing the city of Atlanta in vast contentment.

For a long time the owner of the 'possum was greatly worried. He couldn't climb the pole and he couldn't get any one to climb it for him. It looked very much as if the 'possum was hopelessly lost. However, he forgot one very important thing—that persimmons do not grow on telegraph poles and that a 'possum can't live on electricity for any great length of time.

When dark came the 'possum came down and is now safe in the possession of its owner.

MRS. A. B. STEELE CHAIRMAN OF GEORGIA WOMAN'S COMMISSION

GVERNOR TERRELL has appointed Mrs. A. B. Steele chairman of the Georgia Woman's Commission of the Jamestown exposition, and the commission has been called to meet at the executive mansion Friday afternoon at half past three o'clock.

The members of the commission are: Mrs. John M. Slaton, Mrs. Porter King, Mrs. Samuel D. Jones, Mrs. Robert Henry Park, of Atlanta; Mrs. W. A. Williams, Sr., of Waynesville; Ga.; Mrs. W. G. Bradley, of Brunswick; Mrs. Crawford Wheatley, of Americus; Mrs. John Donaldson, Bainbridge, Ga.; Mrs. Roland Ellis, Macon, Ga.; Mrs. Henry Cohen, Augusta; Mrs. J. B. S. Holmes, Valdosta; Mrs. H. H. Dean, Gainesville; Mrs. H. R. Gochis, Columbus; Mrs. J. Lindsay Johnson, Rome; Mrs. Kate Morton Thomas, Athens, Ga.

The appointment of Mrs. Steele as chairman of the Georgia woman's commission is meeting with enthusiastic recognition and assure the commission the splendid leadership of one of the state's most prominent and representative women—one whose intellect, dignity and womanly grace ever express the highest type of American womanhood and the one destined to leadership in the best movements in which women may be partners in public life.

Mrs. Steele was one of the official board of the Cotton States and International exposition and distinguished herself on the fulfillment of her office at that time.

Later she was made chairman of the Georgia woman's commission of the Tennessee Centennial. She was chairman of the ladies' reception committee at the time of the Peace Jubilee in Atlanta, when President and Mrs. McKinley, members of the cabinet, the distinguished officers of the army and navy were entertained here directly after the Spanish-American war.

At the meeting tomorrow afternoon the duties of the commission will be fully set forth.

ATLANTA'S ART ASSOCIATION AS AN EDUCATIONAL FACTOR

THE presentation here of "Caprice of Capri," an opera, the expression of local talent, and to be interpreted by local talent, is another progressive step of the Atlanta Art Association, which since organization, has been accomplishing directly the purposes thereof.

In bringing out local talent in the forthcoming opera, the association will excite an unusual interest among Atlanta's young people in the cultivation of musical talent, one that has been neglected to a marked degree in this generation.

There was a time when the education of the young woman was considered incomplete if she did not cultivate her musical talent. If she did not possess the talent she at least acquired sufficient knowledge of the subject to capacitate her to appreciate the art in others. So-called practical education under the direction of people radical and in an age when undoubtedly there was a need for a knowledge of practical things on the part of the many, has produced a generation of young women, who, though they may know more about the things that fit them to battle with the world, have not the accomplishments or the cultivation along the gentler lines, which characterized the woman of one or more generations ago.

The influence in this change of education is seen in many respects, not only as regards musical education of the past, when every young woman knew something about it, if she was not actually accomplished in it, but in the matter of literary composition, letter writing and conversational expression. In striking contrast to the woman of the past is one representing a more recent generation, the present, who, coming home with her diploma, knows nothing about music unless she possessed some marked talent in that direction. She is unable to do anything in the line of literary composition, unless she had an idea of making that an actual profession, and she openly announces that she simply cannot write letters, that they are not in her line, badly written and awkwardly expressed notes bearing out the statement, while her conversation in self-colored words, slang, carelessness of good English and ignorance of gentle modulation of the voice, indicate that the artistic side, or that phase of her education coming under the head of accomplishments, has been woefully neglected.

Whereas the woman of the past undoubtedly did give too much of her time to the so-called accomplishments, sacrificing the more practical lines of education, she was beautifully bred, the better poised in bearing and manner and more competent to fulfill the duties and station in life in the higher sense, than is the average young woman of the day, whose education has become radical in her purpose.

McWaters-Thurmond.
MISS AGNES MCWATERS and Mr. George M. Thurmond were quietly married Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the home of Rev. J. T. Baxter, 344 Whitehall street. They are at home to their friends at 38 Walker street.

Crew-Donaldson.
BAINBRIDGE, GA., April 3.—(Special.)—Ben Lee Crew, of Atlanta, and Miss Miriam Donaldson, of Bainbridge, were married tonight at 9 o'clock at the home of the bride's father, Colonel John E. Donaldson, Rev. Dr. J. B. Mack, of Chattanooga, officiating. Many out-of-town guests were present.

To Mrs. Hines.
MRS. DANIEL RUDEN entertained informally at bridge yesterday morning in compliment to Mrs. W. L. Hines, of Macon.

CURES DANDRUFF

Insures Beautiful Hair

"Beauty in man or woman is a gift divine, yet the crowning beauty is the hair, lacking which the face can be no true perfection," and if dandruff is present the hair follicles will be soon destroyed and it will be only a question of time when baldness will come on. No one wants to be bald and no one wishes to have unsightly dandruff.

In all ages of the world true beauty has been desired, and orderly adornment has occupied much of the attention of the cultured and refined.

ANTI-ALOPECIA is a trusty hand-maid to such efforts. It prevents baldness, promotes the growth of the hair, destroys dandruff, keeps the scalp cool, strengthens, invigorates and imparts growth and lustre. It is a grateful preparation, which should be on every toilet table. Druggists sell it at 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle.

suance of the more practical lines. She did not startle in the raptures of her voice; she knew there were times when it was more becoming to listen than to talk; she knew that real wit and humor bars the bitterness and lack of gentleness which subjects absent friends to the unenviable object of would-be amusing talk. She knew enough about music and literary folk and their achievement, and of travels and the people she had met to protect her against the descent to mental squabbles and the descent to the en, who eternally gossip about those whose homes they would not refuse an invitation, and who, when conversation is on the program, indulge in mere personalities, inquisitive questions and that attitude of "prying" that is so slowly in spirit.

Women of accomplishment and cultivation never stoop to these modes of expression, nor do the well educated women, who, though they may not have accomplishments in the sense of music and the arts, have well tutored, disciplined minds, which direct their cause of action from that sort of conduct that the French politely term gaucherie, but which is so dangerously akin to that dreadful something the English language puts in the dictionary as vulgarity—a quality which is a lack of mental discipline.

Until the happy medium is reached when the mode of education of the past, too artistic in tendency, and that of the present, too practical in tendency, will result in a balancing influence that will come in the young woman of the century, the qualities of culture and mental poise not inconsistent with the acquisition of practical knowledge, there is a beautiful work before the Atlanta Art Association. Through their influence and the movements they foster the present generation of young people whose education may have included only the primary principles of art, if any at all, will be brought in touch with activities of today's art life, and encouraged to keep up their interest in that direction.

To their interests in that direction, to others the association will be a dignified and representative medium, through which those talented and cultivated may have their introduction to the public, an example of this being in the presentation of the opera, "Caprice of Capri," when two talented young Atlanta women have united their talents in the completion of an opera.

Whereas the association proves its inspirational influence as well as the educational in this, they have accomplished the same in the broader cause of encouraging a public taste for the beautiful and appreciation of the higher art, when under their auspices the Ben Greer performers first appeared here, and two exhibitions of beautiful pictures of foreign and American artists have been made.

Buffet Luncheon.
MRS. THOMAS PHILIP HINMAN's luncheon will be a beautiful affair of today in compliment to her sister, Mrs. John Corrigan, Jr.

A number of Mrs. Hinman's married friends have been invited to meet her, and assisting in their entertainment will be: Mrs. Robert Davis, Mrs. Col. Carter, Mrs. R. A. Harris, Mrs. W. F. Spalding, Mrs. Marion Hull, Mrs. A. S. Hook and Mrs. Charles Nunnally.

Wedding Anniversary.
R. AND MRS. WALTER J. BELL entertained a large number of their friends on Wednesday evening, the 27th, in celebration of their twentieth anniversary. Their pretty home was artistically decorated in palms, palms, ferns and other plants. Mr. and Mrs. Bell received their friends in front of an immense bank of palms and Mrs. Bell, receiving gown being a lovely gray silk, trimmed in pink rose over white lace waist. The colors, pink and white, were effectively carried out in the decorations and refreshments.

Assisting in receiving were: Mrs. Jason Cannon, Mrs. A. W. Dorn of Ansonia, Mrs. R. Findlay Cox, Mrs. C. H. Foster and Mrs. M. J. Felton of Athens.

MRS. J. S. JENKINS, OF GRIFFIN, GA., who is President of the Home Mission Society of that city. In Host of the Home Mission Society of the North Georgia Conference, Now in Session in Griffin.

were led by Mr. Samuel Slicer, president of the club, dancing with Miss Constance Knowles.

The decoration of the ball room carried out the Easter idea of green and white and Easter lilies were banked on the windows. After 11 o'clock supper was served in the private cafe, where the Easter decorations of green and white prevailed.

There were lilies on the tables and the candlesticks had their shades of white and green.

The dance continued with renewed pleasure after supper.

The chaplains last evening were: Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Pope, Mr. and Mrs. Barbour Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Paine, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Adair, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Clarke, Dr. and Mrs. W. S. Elkin, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Steele, Mr. and Mrs. Harry English, Mr. and Mrs. Carol Payne, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Sisson.

Mrs. Lipscomb to Speak.
MRS. M. A. LIPSCOMB, of Athens, president of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs, has been invited to speak before the Southern Educational Association, to hold in Pinehurst, N. C., the coming week.

The subject of her address will be "What the club women are doing along educational lines." Mrs. Lipscomb will be accompanied by Mrs. J. K. Otley, of Atlanta, who has been one of the most active factors in the educational work of Georgia club women, and who is a member of Atlanta's woman's board of education. On her return from Pinehurst, Mrs. Otley will visit Miss Emily Harrison, in Athens.

Dr. Lee's Courtesy to Temperance Women.
ON November 24, 1887, a union was organized in the stewards' room of the parsonage of Trinity Methodist church, Mrs. Mary L. McLeod, then a devoted president, and she could tell of many ups and downs of the struggling banding if time and space permitted. As time rolled on the union evolved into the flourishing Atlanta South Side Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and when Frances E. Willard passed into the great beyond, it changed its name to Atlanta Willard Woman's Christian Temperance Union to show its appreciation of one of the greatest women that ever lived to bless the world. Trinity's parsonage has within the past year changed into a beautiful building, called the Church house, and it is to that house the Atlanta Willard union has been invited by Rev. James W. Lee, the loved pastor of Trinity church, to hold its regular session every Thursday afternoon, as in days of yore. Members are glad to go home, to the home in which the organization was born nearly twenty years ago.

They want their friends and well wishers to come this afternoon (Thursday) at 3 o'clock to rejoice with them, and to keep on coming until "prohibition reigns in Georgia."

Kindergarten Hunt.
ONE of the happiest of the Easter egg hunts last week was that given the children of Kindergarten No. 4, in the Woolen Mills district, the ladies of the association whose special charge this kindergarten is, having arranged for the little folks, who heartily enjoyed it.

The eggs were hidden in the grass and in nests in a green spot not far from the school, and the children, led by their teacher, Miss Syngert, marched on the school house, singing their class songs until they reached the hiding place of the Easter eggs, when at the count of "one, two, three," they shouted gleefully and plucked in. Besides gay-colored eggs little yellow chickens were found and the children were delighted with the hunt.

Baker-Franks.
Cartersville, Ga., April 3.—(Special.)—On Wednesday evening at 9 o'clock the marriage of Miss Beatie Baker and Mr. A. W. Franks was solemnized at the home of the bride in Irwin street. On account of recent bereavement in the family it was a quiet affair, only the relatives and close friends of the popular couple being present. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. A. Cleveland.

The bride is one of Cartersville's most popular and charming women. Mr. Franks is at present deputy clerk of the superior court of the county.

WHAT CONSTITUTION'S EUROPEAN PARTY WILL SEE EN ROUTE FROM NORFOLK

Fourth Chapter of Articles On Trips to Jamestown Exposition and Europe Published Today—The $15,000 Contest is Rapidly Reaching Gigantic Proportions—Votes Pouring In, and Sunday's Report Will Be An Interesting One.

The Constitution will publish in these columns from time to time items of interest to candidates in the $15,000 contest. The articles appearing here will be taken up in chapters covering the trips to the Jamestown exposition and to Europe. In the last issue the second installment of a description of the Jamestown exposition was published.

CHAPTER IV.
The Constitution will send 100 persons to the Jamestown exposition absolutely free of charge. This party will stay at the fair for one week, at the Constitution's expense. Those who desire to remain a longer length of time than this at their own expense will be at perfect liberty to do so, as the return transportation will be good for thirty days at least.

In the previous chapters a description of the journey to the Jamestown exposition and many of the sights which will be viewed there have been described. The return trip from Norfolk to the homes of the candidates will be as interesting as the trip to Norfolk, and perhaps even more so, as every one will know that they have seen one of the most unique international fairs ever held in history, and one that will live in memory for a lifetime. To visit an exposition of this character is an education in itself, and every one will feel better for having seen it.

According to The Constitution's offer, 10 of the 100 persons who go to the Jamestown exposition will be sent on to Europe for a special tour. This party of tourists will necessarily have to leave Norfolk on or about the 27th of July, as embarkment for Europe is made from Philadelphia July 29th.

It is the mission of these articles to follow these tourists step by step and see where they go, and what they will witness. In the following chapters this matter will be taken up.

The trip of the party of 10 from Norfolk to Philadelphia will be made by Pullman palace car, and will be made in every detail. Meals en route are provided for, and every possible convenience will be shown The Constitution's guests.

The route from Norfolk to Philadelphia lies through a country rich in history. Through Petersburg, where the great battle of that name was fought, on to Richmond, the former capital of the Confederacy, and finally Washington—the nation's capital—is reached, then Baltimore and finally Philadelphia. As the party will probably reach the latter city the day before sailing for Europe, the time will be consumed by sightseeing and general preparatory rest for the long but extremely interesting journey.

At Philadelphia, where the constitution of the United States was signed, and which was the first capital of the United States, is Liberty Hall, in whose tower hung the famous Liberty Bell, which tolled the freedom to all Americans, and whose heart burst with the joy of the message. This historic building will probably be viewed by The Constitution's party before Europe seriously enters the mind. "Our own country first, then Europe."

Saturday morning, July 29, the party of ten will proceed to the Washington street wharves, where the great trans-Atlantic liner will be anchored. The trip to England will follow.

SUPERBAS WIN IN EASY STYLE

Firecrackers, However, Rallied in the Fourth.

Eason Was Given His Bumps in That Inning and Positioned for Four Hits—Paskert Was the Bright Star of the Game.

Paskert was the hero of the hour, and one of the means of eclipsing Eason from the box for Brooklyn, at the Firecrackers' 4. Those who witnessed the game felt satisfied their money was well-spent when the left fielder for Atlanta did such splendid work.

As usual, the big leaguers started off like a shot out of the box, and made two runs before even thinking they were engaged in playing ball. Maloney walked; Mighty Casey was not given a chance to strike out, but was hit by Zeller. Lunney took his base on Ed Smith's error, and Maloney scored. Jordan and Lunney went out on a double play, from Smith to Castro to Fox. By this time Casey had scored. McCarthy went out from second to first. The Firecrackers achieved nothing when given a chance, and the crowd yelled for the second inning.

Brooklyn made another run this time. Atlanta made three hits and one run. Dyer flew out to third; Jordan singled, and stole second; Fox singled, and Paskert closely followed with the same character of goods. During this time, however, Jordan, in running from second to third, sprained his ankle, and Wallace did the base running from third to home plate. Castro went out from second to first, and Zeller flew out to right field.

The third inning posted zeros for both sides as the two teams were concerned. In the fourth, Brooklyn took another two. Alperman cracked the ball between the eyes straight out to left field, it slightly touched the fence and bounced over, allowing the Brooklynite to make a homer. In the first place Jordan flew out to left field, and McCarthy got to first on Dyer's error, and stole second. Lewis struck out, and Alperman knocked for four bases. Butler went out, sort to first.

For Atlanta, Fox sent out a two-bagger, but of no possible use, for Paskert went out from short to first, and Hoffman, who succeeded Otto, fanned.

The Fatal Seventh.
It was in the fatal seventh that Eason met his Waterloo, for Billy Smith's aggression didn't do a thing to him. Hoffman commenced by hitting to short and went out at first. Fox singled; Paskert lanced a beauty two-bagger, and the lanky first baseman scored. Castro followed and got the same result, Paskert scoring.

Winters went out, third to first, Castro scoring. Becker hit to second, and out at first. This ran the score up to four for the locals, and also they received four hits in the one inning. It forced Eason out of the box of the Atlanta manager.

Nothing further was done after this, until in the ninth, when Brooklyn crossed two more of their men, making a total of seven runs.

Paskert deserves credit for his work yesterday, especially from two facts. In the fourth inning Jordan, first baseman for the Superbas, knocked a fly to deep left, as pretty a one as ever displayed itself at Piedmont, and would, under ordinary circumstances, be a settled two-base hit, but Paskert jumped, turned around and caught it. It was a pretty catch, and the crowd went wild. His hit in the seventh also demonstrated his ability with the stick, the ball, and a well-known doing artist, the left fielder is a promising man.

Brooklyn shows up well, except for the southpaws. They can hit anything almost that comes across, but nevertheless, Rube struck out six and Schopp five.

BARONS ARE LEADERS IN PITCHING STAFFS

ANTE SEASON form and dope places the Barons in the lead in the pitching staffs of the league. Once more in so far as effective pitching staffs are concerned, and if Vaughn carries anything like a competent playing body to back their efforts, it will be the Barons that other teams must beat out to grab the rank.

While the Barons seem to be well supplied in now looks as if their strength is the Cracker's weakness, for the way big leaguers have been shattering the half over the face of the earth in practice games, is at total variance with the history of years that have passed. If Vaughn Atlanta managers to get Hughes retained for another year, however, there will possibly be a different story to tell, as Zeller and Hughes would form the nucleus for a splendid staff, while Spade should rank not far behind. Time and real season work will tell the worth of Sparks, Harley and Ford.

The Nashville fans are boasting of much.

ONE TIME ATLANTA YOUTH LEADS ALL HANDICAPPERS

THE closing of the racing season at New Orleans brings the information that Homer George, of the Chicago American, leads all handicappers of the country. In chronicling the news The American gives considerable space to Mr. George's success as a sporting writer and prognosticator of winning horses.

Following is a table showing the percentage of various sporting writers in Chicago and elsewhere. It will be noticed that Mr. George leads "Racing Form," the recognized authority of the country, says:

Homer George is a Lawrencetown, Ga., boy. After attending the University of Georgia he came to Atlanta and did his first work on The Constitution. Gordon Noel Hurlst, the mentor of the police reporters, gave him his first lessons in the gentle art of chasing the elusive news item.

Some years later Mr. George moved to Memphis and secured a position on The Memphis News. At that time he was known as a race man, a plucky horse of the latter kind he had a feeling if not a fond recollection, the result of a rather intimate contact with "Old Beck" around Lawrenceville.

But a man who can master the technicalities of the bell cord in his hand the stuff of which handicappers are made, Homer George began to attract the notice of the racing world.

The Memphis News, when the other reporters of Memphis were just turning in for the morning, Homer was absorbing and assimilating the jargon of the chattering railroads and at Montgomery Park. He soon acquired a vocabulary that would do credit to "Checkers," a noisy waistcoat, diamond stud and—presto! It was no longer Homer George, the reporter, but Mr. Homer George, the handicapper!

The circumscribed area of Memphis became too small and the racing season too brief. Homer packed his suit an excellent team, believing that their racing staff ranks with the best in the league. Sorrell, the two Duggans and others are the personnel of the staff.

Montgomery has little chance, it is believed, to show up in extraordinary fashion in the twirling line, as her men are not above the average.

Shreveport will probably be well supplied as Fisher has made a splendid record for two seasons, and he has a number of youngsters with him who have the goods and should deliver them.

Little Rock is more or less a mystery as she has been for years past before the season opened, and Memphis should show up fairly strong, though there are few to believe that Loucks can ever fill the shoes of Liebhart.

New Orleans has returned old veterans in Guse, Breit and Phillips, with a little new blood to help out.

His staff of Frank's is always steady and stay the best, and that counts for much.

HOMER GEORGE

cases (plural though singular) and moved to the Windy City. It was there that he blossomed in all the perfection of a community which does things on a large scale. They do say that when Homer walks into an all-night cafe in Chicago such notables as "Bath House John," "Hicky Dink Kenna" and Ople Reed sneak shyly out into the night, knowing that their ellipse has come; while on the Rue Royale, in New Orleans, his bon-mots are remembered and studied with care to discover if under the triviality of witicism, some hint of a tip may not lurk!

The moral of which is plain: there is no place like the farm far development presidents and plumpers.

GEORGIA LOSES TO TECH BUNCH

LaFitte Puts University Hitters on the Bum.

Squeeze Play Scores First Run for Yellow Jackets in Second Inning. When LaFitte Tripped and Was Sacrificed in by Brooks.

By ALEX LYNN.
Athens, Ga., April 3.—(Special.)—Tech sank the hooks into her lead in the college pennant race today on Herty field and at the same time sent Georgia to the cellar and to keep Mercer company by the score of 2 to 1. The battle was a fast going through-out and kept a large congregation tense with excitement until the last man was out in the ninth.

Neither the playing of the famous Georgia band, which worked over time, nor the booming of the Georgia cannon, which began acting in the seventh round, could put Ed LaFitte in the wind. The Yellow Jacket slaban had it yesterday without doubt his first run struck home.

Then his team performed, behind him very creditably and of the three misplays only one, that of Stewart's in the sixth, when Georgia counted her only run of the game, was of any consequence.

W. Brown also got away with a nice flinging game and while LaFitte had on him in the matter of strikeouts, the Red and Black southpaw demonstrated that he was something of a pit artist himself. Tech's four safeties were scattered as if the four winds of heaven had taken a hand in the proceedings and it was Georgia misplays that worked havoc with the going for the Red and Black bunch.

Tech Scores in Second.
Ability to find the ball coupled with the successful working of the squeeze was responsible for Tech's first run in the second inning. With one downed, LaFitte, unsatisfied with the part he was playing in the box, stung Brown for a three-sacker and the same old system of dropping a bunt and a sacrifice followed.

Then Brown handed the Yellow Jackets three blanks in succession, but the other half of the score was counted against him in the sixth without a semblance of a hit going to Tech's credit.

With one gone, Wright walked. Robert was pinked and the two batters errors seemed to have a bad effect on the Georgia infield. Robert swung with ease and came to the rubber when Hodgson bobbled.

However, the infield took a brace and finished the round with nothing else to it for the Yellow Jackets.

A bad error of judgment in Georgia's lone one. In the sixth, Wright bobbled, J. Brown safe. He stole second and when Martin hit a long fly to right, Stewart lost it and it was all over.

LaFitte had previously fanned two men and worked a duplication on Hodgson, who was next up. LaFitte had no walks to his credit until the last inning, when Hodgson was passed. Brown got away with a like record.

Tech Has Team Work.
In form, Georgia seems to have it on Mercer. Her infield works nicely, and in fact, the whole team is well-balanced. However, LaFitte was too much for the Red and Black hitters, and this fact, coupled with Tech's excellent team work, was responsible for Georgia's defeat.

What the one would be without the other is a question. Tech's first run was the result of the squeeze, with LaFitte and Brooks taking their cues with the ninety-two of two heads on the vaudeville stage, and then one sure run for Georgia was killed by a clever bit of noodle working with any suggestion of a brainstrom eliminated.

In the fourth, Hodgson got as far as third, with two down. Watson was on by a hit by pitcher, and Knight made a feat as if to wing him playing off second, but instead whipped the ball to LaFitte, who turned loose fake No. 2 at second, and Hodgson made for the rubber. The Tech slaban had him by a block. It was a nifty piece of business, considering all the risk involved. And then some.

Don't Neglect It

It is a serious mistake to neglect a weak heart. It is such a short step to chronic heart disease. When you notice irregularity of action, occasional short breath, palpitation, fluttering, pain in chest or difficulty in lying on left side, your heart needs help—a strengthening tonic. There is no better remedy than Dr. Miles' Heart Cure. Its strengthening influence is felt almost at once.

"I have used 10 bottles of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and can truthfully say it has done me more good than anything I have ever used, and I have tried nearly everything that I know of. The doctor who attended me asked me what I was taking and I told him Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, he said it was not going to do me any good, but it did. I have not taken any for a year now, and while there is occasionally a slight symptom of the old trouble, it is not enough for me to continue the use of the medicine. If I should get worse I would know what to do. Take Dr. Miles' Heart Cure as I did before. I consider myself practically cured of my heart trouble."

WILL INSPECT GEORGIA ROAD

Expert Employed by Commission Came to Office Unannounced.

W. O. Jackson, chief inspector of railways of the Ohio state railroad commission, arrived in Atlanta yesterday morning, and under direction of the Georgia railroad commission will begin today the much talked of inspection of the properties of the Georgia Railroad and Banking Company.

Mr. Jackson, accompanied by Railroad Commissioner O. B. Stevens, General Superintendent W. S. Brand, and Roadmaster Robinson, of the Georgia railroad, and Bowdre Phinizy, of Augusta, if he desires to accompany the party, will leave Atlanta at 7:30 o'clock, following the regular passenger train, a special car and engine being furnished for the purpose by the railroad company. This special will be absolutely at the command of Mr. Jackson and will make such stops as he directs. Mr. Phinizy, by whom the complaint against the road was made, charging that it was unsafe for travel, was notified that the inspection would begin and invited to join the party.

This inspection will probably occupy about a week and, it is stated, it will be a thorough one. Mr. Jackson himself insisted on the members of the commission, or at least one of them, accompanying him on this work.

Announcement was not made of the selection of Mr. Jackson to make this inspection owing to the fact that it was not definitely known until he appeared at the office of the railroad commission that he would undertake the work. He came here direct from Hot Springs, Ark., where he has been on account of his health, but sent the commission a telegram announcing that he would be here. For some reason this telegram was not received at the office of the commission until after Mr. Jackson had walked in and introduced himself. This is one instance at least of the telegraph wires being slower than the railroad schedules.

Mr. Jackson has had twenty-five years experience in railroad work beginning as section foreman and going gradually up. He was for thirteen years a railroad engineer, operating limited trains, and for the last six years has been the chief inspector of railways of the Ohio railroad commission, consequently engaged in the very work for which he is wanted by the Georgia commission.

The railroad commission selected Mr. Jackson solely on the ground that he occupied a position which indicated that he must have a considerable knowledge of railroad properties, and its members feel now that they have a man who will make an able, true and accurate report.

POLITICS CAUSED HIS DEATH.

Ex-Chief of Police Assassinated at Guines, Cuba.

Havana, April 3.—Jose Ayala, ex-chief of police of Guines, Havana province, was assassinated at Guines this morning. The crime apparently was political, as the victim led the governmental forces in the vicinity of Guines in the August revolution, thereby incurring so much enmity that he went to Mexico, from which country he had just returned. The assassin, who was a member of the late rebel army, escaped.

The governor of Havana has sent a committee and several detectives to investigate the crime.

Dawson Postoffice Shows Increase. Dawson, Ga., April 3.—(Special.)—There has been a very marked increase in the receipts of the Dawson postoffice during the past twelve months, the total receipts being $2,789.01. The receipts for the past quarter aggregate $2,339.92, which are in excess of the same period last year, when a political campaign was on and during which the postal business is always large. If the growth in the business of this office is as large during the next twelve months as it has been during the past year, Dawson will become a free delivery office, which will be very gratifying to all of our citizens.

RESIGNATIONS ARE WITHDRAWN

Mayor Maddox and His Son Have Reconsidered.

Since Resignations Were Tendered They Have Been Urged on All Sides to Withdraw Them. They Issue a Signed Statement.

Rome, Ga., April 3.—(Special.)—Judge John W. Maddox announced today that, after duly considering the matter, the resignation of himself as mayor, and that of G. E. Maddox, city attorney, would be withdrawn.

These resignations were placed before council at its session on Monday night and created a profound sensation. They were urged to reconsider and decided to give their final answer at the meeting of council next Monday night.

Since Monday Mayor Maddox had been urged on all sides to withdraw his resignation, and his decision today to do so has been met with general approval. Judge Maddox states that he will continue during the balance of his term the movements he has inaugurated for the carrying out of extensive improvements in the city and hopes to be able to complete many of them before his term expires.

Judge Maddox and G. E. Maddox have issued the following signed statements in regard to their resignations: "Rome, Ga., April 3, 1907.—Hon. J. D. Hanks, Mayor Pro Tem, and Members of the City Council, Gentlemen: In tendering our resignations to council we did so for the purely personal reason that we desired to practice our profession, unhampered by office cares or obligations. We have neither asked nor expected that our salaries be increased, and we desire now to say that under no circumstances will we expect it during our term. In view of existing circumstances, we beg to withdraw our resignations. Very truly yours, "JOHN W. MADDOX, "G. E. MADDOX."

PEONAGE CASES CALLED TODAY

Defendants Will Have to Enter a Plea Before Judge Newman.

Despite a determined effort to sidetrack the indictment in which conspiracy to hold certain persons in a condition of peonage is charged against the Messrs. Cole, Zeigler, Brewster and Robinson, of Coweta county, in the United States court yesterday, Judge Newman presiding, the defendants will be arraigned this morning and will be called upon to enter a plea.

Immediately after court was convened, all the defendants being present, Edward Dean, of Rome, and Rube Arnold, of Atlanta, attorneys for H. L. Zeigler, presented a demurrer for all the defendants to the indictment.

The demurrer was based on the grounds that the indictment for conspiracy was defective in that there should have been a separate bill for each of the alleged peons, that more than one offense was enumerated in the same document and that no specific sum of indebtedness was named.

Attorney Dean opened the argument for the demurrer and presented the contention of the defendants. He was followed by Hon. W. B. Sheppard, of Florida, who was asked by the United States attorney general to come to Atlanta to assist in the prosecution, because of his experience in cases of that kind. Colonel Henry, of District Attorney Tate's staff, came after Colonel Sheppard and declared the indictment good and valid in every line, sentence and paragraph. The conclusion was by Rube Arnold for the defendants. The argument occupied more than two hours and was listened to with interest by the large number of Atlanta and visiting attorneys, as well as by the large gathering in the court room. At its conclusion Judge Newman took the paper under advisement, informing the attorneys that he would announce his decision later. This he did yesterday afternoon and by that decision the demurrer was refused.

Had Judge Newman sustained the demurrer an amended bill or a new bill in its entirety would have been perfected during the afternoon, as the United States district attorney had the members of the present grand jury in waiting so that the case could have been taken up this morning and pushed to a conclusion. Notwithstanding any possible action that might have been taken on the indictment for conspiracy, the true bill, charging peonage, was found by the grand jury last November.

The announcement of Judge Newman's ruling on the demurrer was received with satisfaction by the attorneys for the government. Colonel Sheppard declaring that he was of the impression that the bill was in no way wanting before it was presented to the court. Many of the attorneys in the courtroom were of the same opinion, probably because of the close cathechizing to which Judge Newman subjected them.

There was no arraignment of the defendants, the attorneys for them having prepared the demurrer before coming into court and were ready with the paper when the case was called.

A colony of foreign looking individuals has been in and about the corridors of the district courtroom since Monday. Some of them have a smattering of the American tongue, while there are others who, it is said, cannot either speak or understand a word out of their own language.

That the trial promises to be productive of interesting, if not somewhat sensational, testimony is freely predicted by those who know what is contemplated to be evoked on the witness stand.

Fruit Not Hurt at Perry.

Perry, Ga., April 3.—(Special.)—Ice and frost were seen here this morning and gardens are badly hurt. Irish potatoes, beans, tomatoes, corn, etc., are cut down. It is not thought by the fruit growers that the peaches are hurt. The trees have a heavy foliage that protected the young peach and there was no moisture on the peach or bloom.

COTTON FOUR MONTHS ON ROAD.

Coosa Mills in Serious Condition From Railroad's Delay.

Piedmont, Ala., April 3.—(Special.)—J. W. Hawke, secretary and treasurer of the Coosa Manufacturing Company, of the Southern railroad, at the manner in which cotton intended for the Coosa mills is handled.

As will be seen from this letter, cotton ordered four months ago has not yet arrived, and unless it gets here soon the situation will become serious, and the mills may have to shut down.

Secretary Hawke's letter to President Finley is as follows: "I noticed your public utterances, in trying to stem the current of public condemnation of transportation companies as expressed by the legislatures of the various states. While I believe railroads when well managed are great upbuilders and would much rather see roadbeds and equipment improved and receive better service, and not run such a risk of life while traveling than have rates reduced yet I must say that I believe a large portion of delays on your system are owing to bad management. Your head and tail are too far apart. When you are pinched in the middle you do not feel it. No wonder your receipts have fallen off, if you have treated all of your customers as you have us. We were forced to take our yarn shipments away from your company, owing to delay.

It takes from two to three months for your companies to transport cotton here from the Mississippi delta. On December 24, 1905, 25 bales of cotton; on January 21, 1907, 12 bales of cotton; and on January 21, 1907, 21 bales of cotton were shipped to us by S. B. Wilson & Co., of Vicksburg, Miss., and have not yet been received. A few bales of each shipment are here at the depot, and if these few bales could come through it looks as though the balance could have come. Copies of bills of lading inclosed.

This is what is bringing adverse legislation, and talking and writing service."

BROWARD MAD OVER CARTOON

Enters Libel Suit for $50,000 Against Jacksonville Times-Union.

Tallahassee, Fla., April 3.—(Special).—Governor Napoleon Broward this afternoon filed a libel suit for $50,000 against the Jacksonville Florida Times-Union.

The governor bases his suit on a cartoon appearing in a recent issue representing him in the guise of a robber inserting a hand drill beneath the lock of the state treasury.

There are eight counts in the declaration and the case will be fought in the state courts.

SHE WILL PLEAD INSANITY.

Preparing for Trial of Woman Who Killed Ex-Senator Brown.

Washington, April 3.—Mrs. Annie Bradley, who shot former United States Senator Arthur Brown, of Utah, in a hotel in this city, December 8 last, will plead mental irresponsibility as her defense to the indictment for murder. This fact came out when her counsel yesterday asked the supreme court of the District of Columbia for an order authorizing the summoning of thirteen witnesses from the west to be brought here at government expense to testify in her behalf.

Accompanying this motion is an affidavit in which Mrs. Bradley says she is unable to pay the expenses of witnesses. It is declared that the defense expects to prove by the witnesses that any act she committed that day "was the result of the diseased condition of her mind, for which she is not responsible." The criminal court may set the trial for April 25.

Exaggerated Reports Sent Out.

Flower Branch, Ga., April 2.—(Special).—The reports concerning the recent mad dog scare here, have been greatly exaggerated. It seems now that a poisoned dog in the agonies of death, the direct cause of the mad dog.

The report published in several daily papers to the effect that several children had been sent from this place to the Pasteur Institute for treatment is entirely without foundation.

TREASURY GIVEN TO WALL STREET

So Says Gillespie, of Texas, Regarding Roosevelt.

Congressman Declares That Cortelyou, Directed by Roosevelt, Has Turned the United States Treasury Over to the Market-Riggers.

By John Corrigan.

Washington, April 3.—(Special).—"If any other president except Roosevelt had turned the United States treasury over to Wall street, as Secretary Cortelyou has done, it would be denounced from one end of the country to the other," said Representative Gillespie, of Texas, today in discussing the recent relief measures proposed by the secretary of the treasury to ease the financial situation.

Mr. Gillespie is a member of the banking and currency committee of the house and was one of those who vigorously opposed the Fowler plan of currency reform. In further discussion of the results following the recent flurry in railroad stocks Mr. Gillespie said: "Wall street is now claiming it wants the government to pay $175,000,000 government bonds due July 1, on the ground that this will ease the money market. My opinion is Wall street will demand, as soon as the last vestige of panic has disappeared, the issuance of refunding bonds so that this debt will simply be renewed and not paid off. Of course the debt ought to be paid. We have a surplus of $250,000,000 in the treasury and it is my belief the debt ought to be paid. This surplus is enough to pay for the digging of the Panama canal as we proceed, so that when finished we will not owe a cent on it, or would not if Wall street would permit this plan to be carried out.

"Instead of this sensible, business-like plan, we require the secretary of the treasury to issue bonds to restore to the treasury amounts paid out for work done on the canal.

"The Aldrich bill, which passed the last congress, takes out of the hands of the government the control of the gold supply. This bill provides for the deposit in national banks of customs receipts as well as internal revenue receipts. This was done at the demand of Wall street.

"They say we need not control the gold supply because all our money is on the gold basis. This is true in theory, but not in fact. We have provided by statute for the gold standard, but have never provided any gold supply for meeting the gold obligations of the government, except the $348,000,000 of greenbacks outstanding. Under the ruling of the secretary of the treasury, made by every one from Mr. Carlisle down, every silver dollar is redeemable on demand in gold, as well as every national bank note."

M. & O. REFUSES WAGE INCREASE

Legislation Is So Inimical, Is the Reason Given.

Montgomery, Ala., April 3.—(Special).—Local Mobile and Ohio railroad men are disappointed at the announcement that they are to receive no more pay, as they have asked. After hearing the committee of the men in Mobile yesterday, Vice President E. L. Russell notified them that legislation had been so inimical to the interests of the company that they could not increase the expense in any way. The matter will again be taken at a meeting to be held here on the last of this month. The line men ask for 10 per cent increase and the switch engine men 15 per cent. They say the work is far in excess of what it was when the scale was made. Notwithstanding the refusal of the company, it is thought that the request will in the end be granted.

Cut Out Thaw Pictures.

Montgomery, Ala., April 3.—(Special).—Mayor V. E. Atkins, of Selma, has followed the lead of President Roosevelt, in trying to suppress the sensationalism incident to the Thaw trial in New York city. He has forbidden the moving picture shows there to give the Thaw trial pictures on the ground that they are too suggestive and too sensational.

Was Known in Dothan.

Dothan, Ala., April 3.—(Special).—Miss Birdie Balkum, killed by Ed Patrick, near Coldwater, Tex., a few days ago, was well known in Dothan. Her mother was here two weeks ago, but sold some property. Miss Balkum was found with a bullet hole in her head.

"A Perfect Wreck"

Pinetta, Va., Jan. 16, 1907.

Wine of Cardui has been a God-send to me, for I was bad off, as my neighbors can testify. I keep it in the house all the time and whenever I feel bad I fly to Cardui. Before taking it, I had suffered for about six years and the pains I had I shall never forget. I suffered with dreadful headache, backache, dull aching pains shooting all over me, and such pains low down, I thought, many a time, I was going to die. I tell you I was a perfect wreck. My doctor is a fine man and he did all he could, but I got no better. At last I began to take Wine of Cardui, and began to improve. Now I am stronger, can go out walking, stand on my feet, feel a great deal better, and the pains and aches I have described are all gone. I want every suffering woman to know what Cardui has done for me. It saved my life.

W. L. DOUGLAS

BEST IN THE WORLD. $3.50 SHOES FOR MEN

Do you wear W. L. Douglas shoes? If not, I believe I can give you good and sufficient reasons why it will pay you to wear them.

I give the wearer the benefit of my thorough and practical knowledge of shoemaking, which has extended over fifty years.

I give the wearer the benefit of my exclusive method of tanning the bottom soles, which makes them more flexible and gives longer wear than any other sole leather produced in this country.

As I am the largest manufacturer of men's fine Hand-Sewed Process shoes in the world, it is necessary for me to purchase leather and other materials in enormous quantities; the benefit of the very low prices I obtain I give to the wearer in superior quality over other makes.

If I could take you into my large factories at Brockton, Mass., and show you how carefully W. L. Douglas shoes are made, you would then understand why they hold their shape, fit better, wear longer and are of greater value than any other make.

W. L. Douglas, Brockton, Mass. I have worn W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes since they opened their store in this city, and I get more comfort and wear than from any $5 or $6 shoe. J. C. McLENNAN, George & Allen, Factory Agents & Brokers.

These are a few of the reasons why I make and sell more Men's Fine Hand-Sewed Process $3.50 shoes than any other manufacturer in the world.

spondence all over the country gives us many advantages in handling your property. Give us a list of what you have for sale.New York, April 3.—The cotton market
sion and showed little feature until near the close, when there was quite an active demand and a considerable advance with last prices firm at a net gain of 11 to 15 points. Sales for the day were estimated at 75,000 bales.The opening was steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 2 points, which was about as due on the indifferent cable. The weather map showed front in parts of the eastern belt, but it seemed the impression that no damage was being done and warmer weather was predicted for tomorrow. Some of the local bears offered rather freely during the early session in an effort, presumably, to break the market, but the cotton was well taken and the market began to steady up toward middle of scattered covering, which may have been promoted by light receipts and reports that government experiments with seeds showed that the seed of 1906 was less fertile than that of the previous season. Trading continued at prices a few points over the closing figures of yesterday, until near the close, when demand became quite active and prices showed a net gain of about 11 to 15 points. The close was at practically the best point of the session. The buyers on the advance were rumored to be largely for a prominent
St. Louis house. Southern spot markets were unchanged to 1-8c lower.Receipts at the ports today, 10,504 bales against 27,210 last week and 16,370 last year. For the week, 72,500, against 147,231 last week and 113,955 last year.Today's receipts at New Orleans, 5,133 bales against 6,849 last year, and at Houston, 5,453 against 3,794 last year.New Orleans Cotton Market.
New Orleans, April 3.—Cotton, spots closed steady and unchanged; middling up and down, demand showed somewhat of an improvement. Sales were 1,600 bales on the spot and 350 to arrive.In sympathy with Liverpool, futures opened quiet at a decline of 1 point on the active months, after a decline of 1 point on the active months. After selling as low as 10 1/2 for July during the early part of the session, when the bear element was inclined to hammer the market, the bulls gradually improved in response to a moderate amount of fresh selling, based on rather light estimates for Thursday at New Orleans. House and export demand showed some improvement. When the market reached the level of 10 1/2 for July, heavy selling orders brought a drop of several points. The bulls, however, rallied to the support of the market and brought it up to 10 1/2 for July. It again fell off 2 points on profit taking, but closed steady at 10 1/2 to 11 points above the closing yesterday.Liverpool Cotton Market.

Timber and Lands.The Six Per Cent Profit-Sharing Gold Bonds issued by Cook & Company, Pittsburg, Georgia, are ideal for income investment. They are safely invested in property in north Georgia or near Florida, where investment prop. are guaranteed six per cent and also share in the profits of the business. In making application for these bonds note the amount you wish to invest and whether you want your money invested
